Vance May Be Returning With New Proposals

PARIS (AP) — Cyrus R. Vance's impending return to Paris raised expectations today of a new U.S. move to break the long deadlock delaying the Vietnam peace talks.

Vance, due back tonight, has been the U.S. negotiator in the talks with the North Vietnamese on the shape of the conference table and other procedural issues blocking the start of the expanded conference.

During Vance's consultations Christmas week with President Johnson, President-elect Nixon and other U.S. leaders, the U.S.-North Vietnamese talks lapsed into a holiday lull while the rival Vietnamese delegations stood firm in their entrenched public positions.

Despite anticipation that Vance might be returning with new proposals, some diplomats are saying privately they expect no substantial progress of any sort until after Nixon is inaugurated, his administration makes its ideas known in Paris, and the various Vietnamese delegations assess these ideas.

Vance, a Johnson appointee, has agreed to stay on about a month after the Jan. 20 inauguration to ease the transition. Nixon has yet to name a successor to the present U.S. delegation head, W. Averell Harriman, who is quitting the negotiations next month.

The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong delegations emerged Thursday from the Christmas truce with new moves in their campaign for recognition of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

A joint communique said the start of the peace talks was being blocked by the refusal of the U.S. and Saigon governments "to recognize the Front as an independent and equal party to the conference." The communique said to get the party going, the U.S. and Saigon delegations "must immediately sit" at the round table demanded by North Vietnam and the Viet Cong.

McCormack Is Udall Target

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Morris K. Udall's startling challenge to the House Democratic leadership was welcomed by liberal-moderates today, but he faces a stiff battle to unseat Speaker John W. McCormack.

Udall, in announcing Thursday he was after 77-year-old McCormack's job, said he had reached the decision without lining up any prior backing or consulting with the liberal-moderate leadership.

Several members of the liberal-moderate Democratic Study Group, a largely informal alliance of some 140 members, including Udall, said they were surprised by the four-term Arizona congressman's announcement.

"His chances are very good. He's very popular personally and he's very articulate. But it depends entirely on what the ones in the middle do," said a source aligned with the DSG.

There was a feeling among others, however, that Udall's pledge to call for other nominations if he unseats McCormack on the first ballot was the strongest factor going for him.

The belief is that a Northern or Western liberal wouldn't stand a chance against the speaker from Massachusetts, but that many members dissatisfied with McCormack would go for such a candidate if they thought it was a gimmick that could lead eventually to election of their own man.

First test of Udall's strength will come by secret ballot at the Democratic caucus Jan. 2. The nominee of the caucus will be presented to the full House when it convenes Jan. 3. Since the Democrats hold the majority 243 to 192 their choice is a sure thing.

Pueblo Intrusion Charge Is 'Complete Fabrication'

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The Navy is conducting intensive questioning of the freed crewmen of the USS Pueblo after examining doctors reported finding no serious defects, other than malnutrition.

A team of more than 100 intelligence specialists began talking with crewmen Thursday afternoon in what will become one of the most exhaustive investigations of a loss of a ship in Navy history, officials said.

The investigators want to know precisely how much sensitive electronic equipment may have been left intact when the North Koreans took control of the intelligence vessel.

The circumstances of the Jan. 23 capture and treatment of the Americans also concern the questioners in great degree.

All Malnourished

P.O. Will End Franking Check

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office Department, accused by a Republican senator of doing hatchet work for President Johnson, said today it was giving up its watchdog role over congressional mailing privileges.

The decision, which said congressmen should decide for themselves whether the franking or free mail privileges were being properly used, made no mention of charges by Michigan's Robert P. Griffin. But the senator issued a statement saying both he and the department, which passes from Democratic to Republican hands next month, will benefit. He said he will press for Congress to draw up its own guidelines in the next session.

During the peak of the controversy last fall over Abe Fortas' nomination as chief justice of the United States, the Post Office Department accused Griffin of misusing the franking privilege and said he owed the government $25,000.

Griffin led the successful fight to block nomination of Fortas, an old friend and adviser of the President's.

"When you stick your neck out and back the Johnson administration, I guess you have to expect this sort of thing," Griffin said at the time.

rea, came in a news conference Thursday from Rear Adm. Horace D. Warden, commanding officer of the U.S. Naval Hospital here.

"All of them show effects of malnutrition . . . instability in balance . . . and no doubt there are other deficiencies which we have not yet had time to study in depth," Warden said. Until now, he said, there have been no serious defects noted.

He said all crewmen examined had been physically mistreated. There were no signs of tuberculosis, he said.

Psychological Tests
Warden said the men also are undergoing psychological testing since "all persons who have undergone an ordeal such as these men are subject to psychological pressures and changes. We must evaluate it."

One of the men to undergo some of the most intensive debriefing will be the ship's executive officer, Lt. Edward R. Murphy Jr., who was navigator on the bridge when the Pueblo was captured.

Murphy, looking more rested than at his first state news conference Tuesday, told newsmen he deliberately misled his North Korean captors when they forced him to draw charts that gave the Pueblo's position inside North Korean waters at the time of the capture.

"I wanted to make sure there were enough inaccuracies in what I was saying to be identified," Murphy said.

"Whole Farce"
He said the North Korean officer "who had to prove the whole farce" had no navigational experience and allowed obvious errors to pass.

The 31-year-old lieutenant from San Diego said the errors included positions that would have required a speed of 2,500 knots to maintain, and another position 32 miles inland. He said he planned the inaccuracies to show to the world that the evidence was doctored by the North Koreans.

"There is absolutely no question in my mind and the minds of the crew or of the captain that during no time did we intrude into the territorial waters of North Korea. At absolutely no time," Murphy said. "We never got anywhere near their territorial waters."

16 Miles Away
Murphy was not allowed to talk in detail about the actual capture of the ship. Navy officials said that only the ship's skipper, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, could give those details. Bucher, who is ill, was not present.

Fuel Deliveries Ease N.Y. Crisis

NEW YORK (AP) — The crisis created by a flu epidemic and lagging fuel oil deliveries eased today but not enough to rescind the "state of peril" declared for the city, New York's acting mayor said.

The Board of Health declared the state of peril Thursday after the city health commissioner announced that three New Yorkers had died from lack of heat and 10,000 more were seriously ill in unheated apartments.

The declaration came five days after a settlement was reached in a week-long strike of fuel deliverers. Under the state of peril, any fuel firms that refuse to cooperate in making emergency deliveries could be prosecuted.

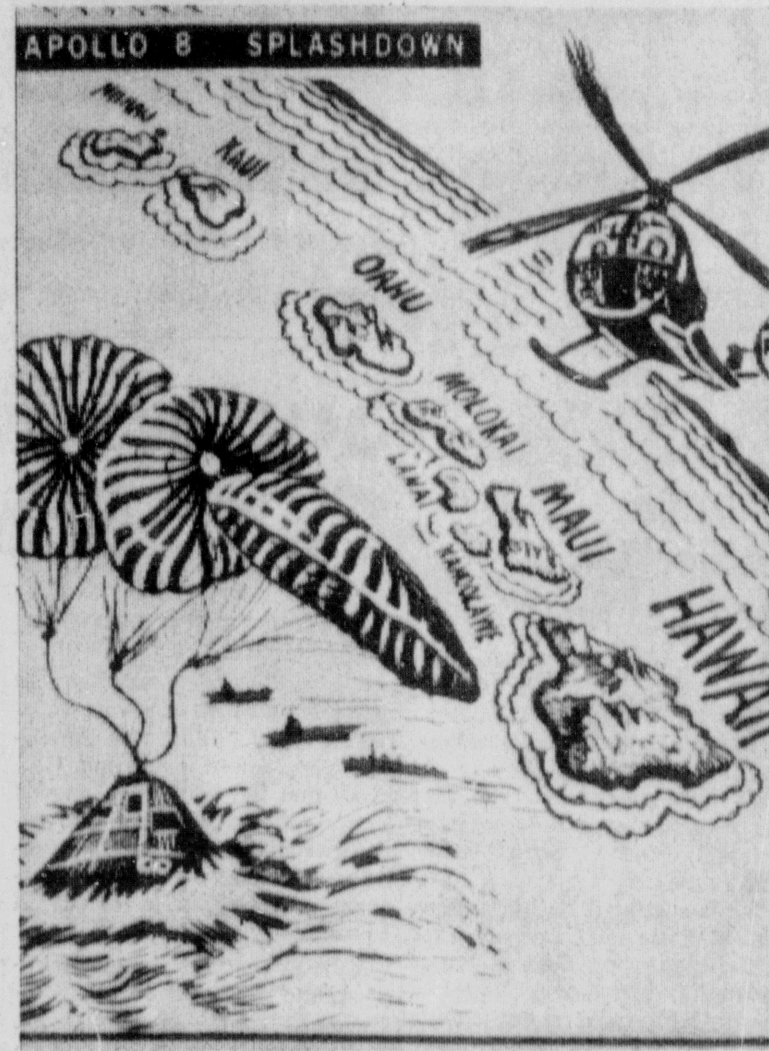

"The crisis is definitely easing," said Timothy W. Costello, the man sitting in for Mayor John V. Lindsay. "We are making progress."

for a vacation in the Bahamas after issuing a statement on the crisis in which he called for extraordinary efforts to get fuel to unheated buildings with sick persons.

The health commissioner, Dr. Edward O'Rourke, said three deaths were directly attributable to lack of heat. His department estimated that 2,400 people would die in the city this week, half from flu complications. With temperatures dipping to the teens, the city remained in the grip of a flu epidemic that had drained its supply of vaccine. Slightly higher temperatures were forecast for today.

Deputy Mayor Timothy W. Costello said Health Department personnel would be stationed at about 100 fuel depots in the city "to order that those buildings identified as health emergencies receive oil on a priority basis."

Apollo Sets Up Early Attempt At Moon Landing

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 8's trail-blazing flight around the moon has given space planners a firm foothold to try for a moon landing in the next few months—maybe April or May.

One major piece of Apollo hardware still remains to be qualified, the lunar module spacecraft that will taxi future astronauts from a three-man Apollo craft in lunar orbit to the moon's surface.

That four-legged lunar lander is to get its first manned space test about Feb. 20 during America's next three-man mission, Apollo 9.

If the lunar module performs perfectly in earth orbit on Apollo 9, astronauts conceivably could land on the moon on the following flight, Apollo 10, in April or May.

Three Man Crew
Present plans for Apollo 10—to be flown by a three-man crew headed by veteran astronaut Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford—call for the pilots to fly a moon orbit mission in which the lunar module separates from a three-man Apollo spaceship and approaches within 10 miles of the surface, but does not land.

"Our present plans are to not commit Apollo 10 for a landing," said Air Force Lt. Gen. Samuel C. Phillips, Apollo program director. However, "We might want to exercise a more ambitious option," he noted, as was done when the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) decided to send Apollo 8 around the moon.

Too Much Weight
The first lunar landing mission is now expected by Apollo 11, next May or June. Astronauts have not yet been assigned for that flight.

The particular lunar module assigned to Apollo 10 does not have fuel tanks with enough capacity and weighs too much for a lunar landing. So if a decision is made to fly the Apollo 10 crew to the moon's surface, another lunar module would have to be assigned to the mission, Phillips pointed out.

Explorers Make Pinpoint Landing

ABOARD USS YORKTOWN (AP) — Climaxing a magnificent space odyssey, the Apollo 8 moon explorers came home from the heavens today, steering their spaceship to a pinpoint landing less than three miles from the main recovery ship in a darkened Pacific Ocean.

Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders reported they were in excellent condition after the momentous journey.

They landed just before dawn and waited patiently in their bobbing spaceship for 45 minutes until the first rays of light began to illuminate the Pacific so that swimmers could safely drop into the sea to secure the Apollo 8 craft.

America's newest heroes ended man's greatest space adventure and one of history's most momentous explorations when they survived man's hottest and fastest dive through the atmosphere and parachuted into a gently rolling sea about 5,000 yards from the Yorktown.

Helicopters spotted the six-ton spaceship dangling under its three red and white parachutes as it dropped for the sea. They were overhead moments after the 10:50 a. m. EST splashdown.

Land On Carrier
The astronauts climbed into a life raft and were hoisted aboard a helicopter 80 minutes after landing. They were ferried quickly to the carrier, which had steamed toward the scene from the moment of touchdown.

With a beautiful dawn breaking over the Pacific, Borman, Lovell and Anders were deposited on the carrier deck at 12:20 p. m. EST. Hundreds of sailors cheered and snapped pictures as the bearded adventurers stepped on deck and strolled a bit uneasily across a red carpet rolled out for the occasion.

Borman, Lovell and Anders all looked in great shape as they left the microphone and walked to an elevator, which took them down to a sick bay for a medical examination.

With the astronauts safely on the carrier, officials in the Mission Control Center in Houston unfurled a large American flag and the "STAR Spangled Banner" was played over a communications circuit.

While waiting for pickup, the astronauts chatted by radio with the commander of the helicopter hovering overhead. Cmdr. Donald S. Jones of Madison, Wis., asked the astronauts what the moon was made of.

"It's not made of green cheese at all," Borman replied. "It's made out of American cheese."

Asked what they wanted for breakfast, the astronauts replied "steak and eggs, the same that we had before we left the Cape last week."

First In Darkness
They are the first U.S. astronauts to land in darkness. It was 4:50 a. m. local time, about an hour before dawn and 45 minutes before first light.

Unless there were an emergency, frogmen did not plan to deploy from the helicopters until first light, leaving the astronauts to wait out the recovery in their floating craft.

"Crew condition okay," came the happy report from Yorktown.

The astronauts had been away from earth exactly six days three hours on a dramatic mission that thrilled the world and gave man his first closeup look at the mysterious celestial neighbor that has intrigued humans since the beginning.

They traveled 69 hours outward to the moon, circled it 10 times in 20 hours at an altitude of 70 miles and then raced home along a 58-hour corridor. They logged about 537,000 perfect miles.

Fastest Re-Entry
To reach their landing target in the Pacific, Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders survived man's hottest and fastest re-entry through the atmosphere.

Apollo 8 slammed into the outer limits of the atmosphere at 24,630 miles an hour, was punished by forces nearly seven times the pull of gravity and was blistered by heat of more than 5,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

The astronauts had been on a perfect course since they fired themselves out of moon orbit early Wednesday and started their 58-hour, 233,000-mile homeward journey. So accurate was the path that three planned mid-course corrections were cancelled.

Like a speeding bullet, Apollo's velocity gradually increased until it reached a breath-taking 24,630 m.p.h. as it slammed into the outer boundary of the earth's atmosphere 400,000 feet above the Pacific Ocean. That's 7,000 miles faster than any previous man-in-space re-entry.

Friction immediately built up and the craft's heat shield was blistered by temperatures of more than 5,000 degrees Fahrenheit. But the temperature in the cabin remained a comfortable 70 degrees.

Before hitting the atmosphere, the astronauts jettisoned a service module attached to the cabin. The shedding of this equipment bay reduced Apollo 8's weight from 31,600 to about 12,000 pounds.

To reduce the effect of gravity buildup, Apollo 8 skipped like a stone off the atmosphere at 180,000 feet, bouncing back out to 210,000 feet before making the final plunge.

During the hottest, fastest part of descent, radio communications were cut off from the spacecraft about three minutes.

"Real Good Shape"
The first word that Apollo 8 had survived the blazing dash came from Lovell, who radioed: "We're in real good shape."

The crew reported they had powered through a "real fireball" during the critical re-entry.

Ships quickly picked up the descending spaceship on radar. The atmosphere braked the speed of the fleeting craft, making it possible for small parachutes to pop out to stabilize it.

At 10,000 feet the three main chutes blossomed and the astronauts floated gently downward into the Pacific, traveling at a comparative snail's pace of 22 m.p.h.

First word that the astronauts were down came from a helicopter that reported seeing flashing lights, and added the dramatic words: "We have voice contact."

Within minutes after the landing, a helicopter was over the spaceship, illuminating the area with a giant floodlight.

More Relaxed
With their early in-flight illnesses gone and the 20-hour moon orbit segment behind them, Borman, Lovell and Anders were noticeably more relaxed as they shot into the final 24 hours of the mission.

They talked of coming home, joked with ground controllers and even waxed a little poetic. "It has been a fantastic voyage," Anders reported.

Man Leads Police To Body

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — A fugitive from a Missouri mental hospital has been charged with murder after leading police to the frozen body of 10-year-old Pamela Powers, missing since Christmas Eve.

A self-styled minister who identified himself as Anthony Erthell Williams, 24, a Negro, wordlessly directed detectives to Pamela's half-clothed body, wedged between a culvert and the side of a snow-covered 15-foot embankment, Thursday.

Police waited results of an autopsy to determine how the blonde, blue-eyed fourth-grader died and how long she had been in the spot near Mitchellville, 10 miles east of Des Moines on Interstate 80.

Des Moines Police Chief Wendell Nichols said Williams agreed to disclose the place to detective Capt. Cleatus Leaming and Lt. Wallace Nelson during the automobile trip from Davenport, Iowa, where Williams had turned himself in Thursday morning.

After his arraignment on an open charge of murder under heavy guard at the Des Moines police station Thursday, Williams spoke only to his lawyer, Henry T. McKnight of Des Moines.

Nichols said officers did not press Williams for details of the Christmas Eve abduction or slaying under terms of an agreement with McKnight on Williams' surrender.

Officers who accompanied Williams and the two detectives to the girl's body said Williams showed no signs of emotion.

"He was almost casual and not downcast," said one.

His return to Des Moines police headquarters—only four blocks from the YMCA building where Pamela disappeared Tuesday—was conducted under heavy security after police received anonymous telephone calls threatening Williams' life.

Tourist Promoters Ask State, U.S. To Assist

MARQUETTE — A feeling that federal and state agencies should take a more active role in support of the tourist associations showing at the various travel and sport shows, was expressed at a meeting of the travel and promotion committee of the Upper Michigan Tourist Association in Marquette.

Ken Dorman, executive secretary, pointed out that states of the Midwest, such as Nebraska and Iowa, have uniformed men of their state conservation departments in attendance.

With the great acreage of forest lands in federal and state ownership in the Upper Peninsula, and the amount of good wood each agency is doing to enhance and encourage multiple use of these lands, it would be a great asset if the U. S. Forest Service and the State Department of Natural Resources would send men in uniform to some of these travel shows, said Dorman.

Visitors, he pointed out, are much impressed with the official character of the news and information when given by a uniformed officer, or representative of a state or federal department.

Brochures Lacking . . . It was also pointed out by the committee that there was strong feeling that the federal and state agencies should give an accounting of their stewardship of these lands and what they have done to encourage visitors. "Promotion", said Dorman, "is a two-way street, and we can use all the help that is available."

The Sylvania Tract was used as an example of the need for telling the people how to get there and what to do. The Forest Service has already accomplished a great deal in developing Sylvania, but has been more than stingy in making brochures available for distribution to interested people, the UMTA committee was told.

There was acknowledgement that some of the reluctance to give out brochures was a matter of budgeting, but the committee endorsed Dorman's stand that the comparatively small cost of brochures would be more than repaid in the business created.

Wisconsin's Way State parks and state forests were also discussed. In Wisconsin, the Conservation Department sold several hundred fishing licenses and park permits at travel shows. "Even if these were bought by collectors", Dorman pointed out, "it was money for the department. We have not been able to interest the Michigan Department in this kind of cooperation."

The committee will make approaches to the services for attention in this program. This effort will be headed by Ted Bogdan, Marquette.

In this connection, Dorman pointed out that a study of the communities and promotional projects of the Peninsula over a period of years shows a startling relationship between brochures and business.

Those who have not been doing something to acquaint the public with their features and attractions, and have not made available brochures or folders of their place, have experienced a static level of business or dwindling patronage.

Those who have consistently supported the travel shows, through representation and their own literature have had growth, and in the few years when there has been a general lag in U. P. tourist business, their decrease has been the least.

Holy Name To Present Four One-Act Plays

The Holy Name Drama Club will present its third annual Coffee House Theatre on Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 11 and 12, with four student directed one act plays presented in arena style. The audience will sit at tables and enjoy refreshments while watching the plays.

The plays to be presented include "The Man in the Bowler Hat" to be directed by Tim Durkin; "The Romance of the Willow Pattern" to be directed by Katie Prinski; "The Wonder Hat" to be directed by Dan Snow; and "I Married Irene Because She Has Eyes Like Abraham Lincoln" to be directed by Loretta Bonifas. The producer is Brother Christopher.

The regular committee's of the drama club will handle backstage arrangements.

The purpose of the Coffee House Theatre is mainly educational, allowing experienced Drama members to try their hand at directing, and giving the underclassmen, many for the first time, experience in acting. It allows experiment craft, and helps bring a wide variety of drama types and styles to the Escanaba play-going audience, the Drama Club reported.

Father Of George Rusch Dies Wednesday

George J. Rusch, 71, of 1047 Wendell Ave., Schenectady, N. Y. died Dec. 25. He and his wife had made their home here for several years, moving back to Schenectady about three years ago.

He is survived by his widow, Helen; two sons, Lawrence of Schenectady and George W. of Escanaba; a brother, Daniel, a sister, Mary and eight grandchildren.

Visitation will be held Sunday, Dec. 29 at the Holy Name Home in Schenectady and funeral services will be conducted Monday at St. John the Evangelist Church.

Surtax Fails To Cool Economy

NEW YORK (AP) — The fired-up economy is surprisingly defiant of efforts to cool it off.

Early this year, government officials and many private economists were telling the American people and exhorting Congress that the only thing needed to slow the rate of business expansion and accompanying inflation was a 10 per cent tax surcharge coupled with a cut in government spending.

A long-reluctant Congress imposed the tax boost July 1.

Economists forecast that deceleration would begin at a moderate pace in the third quarter and show substantial results in the fourth quarter.

It didn't work out that way. "Developments during 1968 have emphasized anew how difficult it is to forecast the pace of economic activity," says Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. in its year-end business review.

Misjudgment

"In general, neither government nor private economists were at all accurate in the projections they made for the year as a whole, and their misjudgments were widely shared by business men, high officials in the administration, congressmen on both sides of the aisle and journalists.

Forecasters were confounded, for one thing, by the failure of consumers to restrain their recent buying habits despite the extra 10 per cent tax bite on their paychecks.

Retail sales did slip in September and October but rebounded sharply in November. Indications were that if retail sales were less than robust during the Christmas season it would be mainly because a lot of shoppers stayed home because of the flu epidemic.

Statistics indicated that consumers were dipping into their savings to maintain their accustomed standard of living. And there were the factors of higher employment and widespread increases in wages and salaries.

Business Spending

Forecasters also had expected that the income tax boost, which would slice profits, would cause corporations to pull in their horns as far as expenditures for new plants and equipment.

Instead, according to the Commerce Department, "business seems to have embarked on a new round of investment spending which will have important stimulating effects on an economy operating at very high employment rates."

Economists were surprised that the Gross National Product — total of all goods and services — jumped by $18.1 billion in the third quarter to an annual rate of $871 billion when they had expected an increase of about $12 billion.

Now the Commerce Department says there will be a sizable increase in the Gross National Product in the fourth quarter — "not much different from the rise in the third."

The conclusion seems to be that consumers and business executives have decided to spend now because prices might well be higher next year.

November Was Mild And Dry

November was above normal in temperature in the Escanaba area, the Weather Bureau reports. Average monthly temperature was 36.7 degrees, or 2.5 degrees above the norm for the month. Highest was 65 degrees on Nov. 1 and lowest 24 degrees on Nov. 19 and 20.

The month was generally mild and dry with temperatures normal or above normal on all but 7 days. Precipitation was less than half the normal amount and totaled 1.03 inches, which was 1.32 inches under normal. Greatest 24 hour precipitation was 0.46 inch on Nov. 16-17. Snowfall for the month totaled 5.4 inches and greatest depth on the ground was 3 inches on Nov. 19-20.

Luther Home In Area Ownership

Transfer of title on Luther Home, Marinette, from the Wisconsin-Upper Peninsula Michigan Synod, Lutheran Church in America, to Northland Lutheran Services for the Elderly, Inc. will take place at a brief ceremony at Luther Home this evening.

Plans for the transfer have been in preparation for over a year and were approved by the Wisconsin - Upper Michigan Synod at their annual convention held last spring. The new corporation was officially organized in November.

Fifteen congregations of the area are presently members. Others are expected to be added to the original list which consists of Salem Lutheran Church, Bark River; Pioneer Lake Lutheran Church, Conover, Wis.; Bethany Lutheran Church, Escanaba; Resurrection Lutheran Church, Green Bay; First Lutheran Church, Iron Mountain; Our Savior Lutheran Church, Marinette; St. James Lutheran Church, Marinette; Zion Lutheran Church, Marinette; Bethel Lutheran Church, Menominee; Central Lutheran Church, Menominee; Emmanuel Lutheran Church, Menominee; First American Lutheran Church, Oconto; Salem Lutheran Church, Peshtigo; Porterfield Lutheran Church, Porterfield; and St. Stephen Lutheran Church, Stephenson.

Present members of the Home's Board of Managers will function as the first Board of Directors. Three new members have been added. Officers will be chosen at the Board's first meeting to be held in January. Present members are Albin Anderson, Menominee; Rev. Donald Berg, Menominee; Donald E. Bonehan, Marinette; Richard Brukardt, Menominee; S. E. Eastman, Marinette; Robert Stadelman, Pound; Gordon Swanson, Menominee; George Tjaden, Marinette; Rev. Lael Westberg, Peshtigo.

New members who were added at the organization meeting are Rev. George R. Francis, Green Bay, Rev. Frederick Mai, Oconto, and Rev. Wal-fred Nelson, Escanaba.

Area corporations are the pattern now for church related voluntary social service agencies. They bring ownership and operation into closer relationship to those who are being served. In addition to Homes where older folks receive care, Northland Lutheran Services for the Elderly, Inc. also expects to promote a program of services in the interest of those living in their own homes.

Pilot projects have already been initiated in several communities. It is intended to extend the program throughout the northland area of Wisconsin and Upper Michigan.

Detroit Area Sheet Of Ice

DETROIT (AP) — Michiganders in the lower part of the state awoke today to find the region covered by ice which made driving and walking hazardous.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Detroit reported a band of freezing drizzle 40 miles wide from Grand Rapids to north of Flint and on into Ontario.

Temperatures were expected to warm and the drizzle to turn to rain later.

But in the early hours to venture out was to do so at one's peril. "They ought to warn a guy," said one man who fell on the sidewalk just before dawn in Detroit.

"You can take your pick which you'd rather drive on today, snow or ice," said a sergeant at State Police headquarters in Lansing.

A traffic division sergeant at Detroit police headquarters said he estimated "conservatively, we've had in excess of 50 (accidents) city-wide." All were limited to the fenderbender kind, he said. "No one's driving fast enough to cause serious injury."

No early morning traffic fatalities were reported by State Police.

Detroit street salting crews were ordered out but their immediate efforts were directed to freeways and major streets. City buses crawled along their routes and pedestrians walked as if there were no concrete under the thin ice at their feet.

Geerling Blasts Rights Group For Its Involvement

LANSING (AP)—A state representative today blasted the Muskegon office of the Michigan Civil Rights Commission for "gross misuse" of authority in its reported involvement in the California grape strike.

Rep. Edgar Geerlings, R-Muskegon, said he learned the Muskegon office director had written to area clergy, urging them to ask their congregations to "stop all grape purchases at once until recognition is won by the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee," which represents striking migrants.

The office, through director George Neagu, has "obviously overstepped its bounds as an official agency of Michigan government," said Geerlings.

He added that Neagu used his official title of regional office director in signing the letter to clergy.

PAN AMERICAN WORLD AIRWAYS' No. 1 747 Superjet is shown here shortly after installation of its four, Pratt & Whitney turbofan engines at Boeing's 747 plant in Everett, Wash. Pan Am's No. 1 Superjet is scheduled to come out of the paint shop in Pan Am markings in January.

Pan Am Gets Superjet In January

The first 747 Superjet in the colors of Pan American World Airways will emerge from the Boeing Company's plant in Everett, Wash., in January. This aircraft is one in a fleet of 25 Superjets ordered by Pan Am in 1966 — an order which led Boeing to proceed with the program to build the world's largest commercial jetliner.

Four Pratt & Whitney engines, each with a thrust of 45,000 pounds, were recently installed beneath the wings of Pan Am's No. 1 assembly line Superjet. Seven other Pan Am Superjets are in various stages of assembly at Boeing's sprawling 747 construction complex.

The airline will place the first of the 362-passenger airplanes into scheduled service late in 1969. Delivery of the first production model 747 to the airline is due in September, 1969.

Pan Am's No. 1 Superjet, dubbed "PA-RA002" by the men and women who are building it, is actually the second 747 on the Boeing assembly line. The first assembly line Superjet belongs to the Boeing

Co., which unveiled the 713,000 pound aircraft for the first time September 30 at a rollout ceremony.

The Boeing aircraft and Pan Am's No. 1 747 will be among five Superjets which will be involved in an intensive flight test program. This program is scheduled to get underway later this month when Boeing's 747 takes off from Paine Field in Everett on its maiden flight.

Three of the five 747's in this test will be Pan Am Superjets. The test program will accumulate over 1,400 flight hours spread over a 10-month period. All major assembly work on Pan Am's No. 1 Superjet has been completed. Before the aircraft rolls into the paint shop, technicians will finish installing flight deck components, hydraulic systems, plumbing, wiring and air conditioning. They also will check the aircraft's doors and windows for proper fit and will test the landing gear.

Boeing has announced that the three Pan Am Superjets in the test program will be used for a wide variety of airframe and power plant evaluations. One airplane will be used for a majority of power plant tests as well as for evaluation of integrated electronic flight control systems, autopilot and flight director systems.

Another will be used to evaluate flight loads under simulated conditions and will perform various mechanical systems tests. The third aircraft, to be completely outfitted with seats and galleys and other passenger service equipment, will be used for functional and reliability certification tests, radio and navigation tests and all testing that requires a complete interior configuration.

While Pan Am's fleet of 747's take shape on the Boeing assembly line, airline engineers and purchasing officials in New York are finalizing contract work to outfit the Superjet Clippers with interior equipment.

Pan Am, which use a seating configuration in the 747 of 58 First Class and 304 Economy Class, has selected two manufacturers to build seats for the Superjet.

UPCAP $68,259 Will Train 100

The Department of Labor in Washington has allocated $150,000 for on-the-job training of 200 persons in Northern Michigan, Senator Philip Hart reports.

The Upper Peninsula Committee for Area Progress gets $68,259 of the money for its OJT program to train 100 persons in all 15 Upper Peninsula counties. UPCAP contracts with Lake Superior State College at Sault Ste. Marie and the Catholic Diocese of Marquette to service the program, which upgrades job skills in on-the-job training in actual work situations in U. P. businesses and industries.

Lee Meyers, executive director of UPCAP said that about 500 youths and adults have been trained in the OJT program in the U. P. in the past two years. The new funding is for a reduced third year of the program.

Money for the Northern Michigan Community Action Programs based in Mount Pleasant totals $81,253.

Old Cernik's Regime Resigns

PRAGUE (AP) — The government of Premier Oldrich Cernik is resigning this weekend to make room for Cernik's new federal regime that takes office by Jan. 1, Communist sources said today.

The reason for the reshuffle is the introduction of a new federal system to give more autonomy to the two national groups—Czechs and Slovaks—which form this nation. No startling change in the complexion of the power group is expected.

A federal government, smaller than Cernik's present Cabinet, will direct the federal administration. Functions of other ministries will be shifted to new regional governments, one in Prague responsible for the Czech territories of Bohemia and Moravia, the other in Bratislava, capital of Slovakia.

Qualified sources said the shift is essentially an effort to decentralize some government authority rather than increase conservative influence to appease the Soviets.

Tourist Promoters Ask State, U.S. To Assist

MARQUETTE — A feeling that federal and state agencies should take a more active role in support of the tourist associations showing at the various travel and sport shows, was expressed at a meeting of the travel and promotion committee of the Upper Michigan Tourist Association in Marquette.

Ken Dorman, executive secretary, pointed out that states of the Midwest, such as Nebraska and Iowa, have uniformed men of their state conservation departments in attendance.

With the great acreage of forest lands in federal and state ownership in the Upper Peninsula, and the amount of good work each agency is doing to enhance and encourage multiple use of these lands, it would be a great asset if the U. S. Forest Service and the State Department of Natural Resources would send men in uniform to some of these travel shows, said Dorman.

Visitors, he pointed out, are much impressed with the official character of the news and information when given by a uniformed officer, or representative of a state or federal department.

Brochures Lacking . . . It was also pointed out by the committee that there was strong feeling that the federal and state agencies should give an accounting of their stewardship of these lands and what they have done to encourage visitors. "Promotion", said Dorman, "is a two-way street, and we can use all the help that is available."

The Sylvia Tract was used as an example of the need for telling the people how to get there and what to do. The Forest Service has already accomplished a great deal in developing Sylvia, but has been more than stingy in making brochures available for distribution to interested people, the UMTA committee was told.

There was acknowledgement that some of the reluctance to give out brochures was a matter of budgeting, but the committee endorsed Dorman's stand that the comparatively small cost of brochures would be more than repaid in the business created.

Wisconsin's Way State parks and state forests were also discussed. In Wisconsin, the Conservation Department sold several hundred fishing licenses and park permits at travel shows. "Even if these were bought by collectors", Dorman pointed out, "it was money for the department. We have not been able to interest the Michigan Department in this kind of cooperation."

The committee will make approaches to the services for attention in this program. This effort will be headed by Ted Bogdan, Marquette.

In this connection, Dorman pointed out that a study of the communities and promotional projects of the Peninsula over a period of years shows a startling relationship between brochures and business.

Those who have not been doing something to acquaint the public with their features and attractions, and have not made available brochures or folders of their place, have experienced a static level of business or dwindling patronage.

Those who have consistently supported the travel shows, through representation and their own literature have had growth, and in the few years when there has been a general lag in U. P. tourist business, their decrease has been the least.

Holy Name To Present Four One-Act Plays

The Holy Name Drama Club will present its third annual Coffee House Theatre on Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 11 and 12, with four student directed one act plays presented in arena style. The audience will sit at tables and enjoy refreshments while watching the plays.

The plays to be presented include "The Man in the Bowler Hat" to be directed by Tim Durkin; "The Romance of the Willow Pattern" to be directed by Katie Prinski; "The Wonder Hat" to be directed by Dan Snow; and "I Married Irene Because She Has Eyes Like Abraham Lincoln" to be directed by Loretta Bonifas. The producer is Brother Christopher.

The regular committee's of the drama club will handle backstage arrangements.

The purpose of the Coffee House Theatre is mainly educational, allowing experienced drama members to try their hand at directing, and giving the underclassmen, many for the first time, experience in acting. It allows experiment, craft, and helps bring a wide variety of drama types and styles to the Escanaba play-going audience, the Drama Club reported.

Father Of George Rusch Dies Wednesday

George J. Rusch, 71, of 1047 Wendell Ave., Schenectady, N. Y. died Dec. 25. He and his wife had made their home here for several years, moving back to Schenectady about three years ago.

He is survived by his widow, Helen; two sons, Lawrence of Schenectady and George W. of Escanaba; a brother, Daniel, a sister, Mary and eight grandchildren.

Visitation will be held Sunday, Dec. 29 at the Daily Funeral Home in Schenectady and funeral services will be conducted Monday at St. John the Evangelist Church.

Briefly Told

Gladstone City Police ticketed George R. Schooley of Rte. 1 Rock for failure to stop for a traffic light.

Ronald Caviani, Iron Mountain native who is assistant professor of music at Northern Michigan University, has signed a contract to publish a selection of bands with the Kendra Music Publishing Co.

John Listie, Rte. 1, Gladstone, was ticketed by State Police for violation of the basic speed law about 2 a. m. Wednesday after his car ran off County Rd. 569 and struck a utility pole in Bark River Township. He was not injured, troopers said. Donald Hahn, Bark River, also was ticketed Wednesday for defective exhaust and no insurance.

Surtax Fails To Cool Economy

NEW YORK (AP) — The fired-up economy is surprisingly defiant of efforts to cool it off.

Early this year, government officials and many private economists were telling the American people and exhorting Congress that the only thing needed to slow the rate of business expansion and accompanying inflation was a 10 per cent tax surcharge coupled with a cut in government spending.

A long-reliant Congress imposed the tax boost July 1. Economists forecast that deceleration would begin at a moderate pace in the third quarter and show substantial results in the fourth quarter.

It didn't work out that way. "Developments during 1968 have emphasized anew how difficult it is to forecast the pace of economic activity," says Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. in its year-end business review.

Misjudgment "In general, neither government nor private economists were at all accurate in the projections they made for the year as a whole, and their misjudgments were widely shared by business men, high officials in the administration, congressmen on both sides of the aisle and journalists. Forecasts were confounded, for one thing, by the failure of consumers to restrain their recent buying habits despite the extra 10 per cent tax bite on their paychecks.

Retail sales did slip in September and October but rebounded sharply in November. Indications were that if retail sales were less than robust during the Christmas season it would be mainly because a lot of shoppers stayed home because of the flu epidemic.

Statistics indicated that consumers were dipping into their savings to maintain their accustomed standard of living. And there were the factors of higher employment and widespread increases in wages and salaries.

Business Spending Forecasts also had expected that the income tax boost, which would slice profits, would cause corporations to pull in their horns as far as expenditures for new plants and equipment.

Instead, according to the Commerce Department, "business seems to have embarked on a new round of investment spending which will have important stimulating effects on an economy operating at very high employment rates."

Economists were surprised that the Gross National Product—total of all goods and services—jumped by $18.1 billion in the third quarter to an annual rate of $871 billion when they had expected an increase of about $12 billion.

Now the Commerce Department says there will be a sizable increase in the Gross National Product in the fourth quarter—"not much different from the rise in the third."

The conclusion seems to be that consumers and business executives have decided to spend now because prices might well be higher next year.

November Was Mild And Dry

November was above normal in temperature in the Escanaba area, the Weather Bureau reports. Average monthly temperature was 36.7 degrees, or 2.5 degrees above the norm for the month. Highest was 65 degrees on Nov. 1 and lowest 24 degrees on Nov. 19 and 20.

The month was generally mild and dry with temperatures normal or above normal on all but 7 days. Precipitation was less than half the normal amount and totaled 1.03 inches, which was 1.32 inches under normal. Greatest 24 hour precipitation was 0.46 inch on Nov. 16-17. Snowfall for the month totaled 5.4 inches and greatest depth on the ground was 3 inches on Nov. 19-20.

Luther Home In Area Ownership

Transfer of title on Luther Home, Marinette, from the Wisconsin-Upper Peninsula Michigan Synod, Lutheran Church in America, to Northland Lutheran Services for the Elderly, Inc. will take place at a brief ceremony at Luther Home this evening.

Plans for the transfer have been in preparation for over a year and were approved by the Wisconsin - Upper Michigan Synod at their annual convention held last spring. The new corporation was officially organized in November.

Fifteen congregations of the area are presently members. Others are expected to be added to the original list which consists of Salem Lutheran Church, Bark River; Pioneer Lake Lutheran Church, Conover, Wis.; Bethany Lutheran Church, Escanaba; Resurrection Lutheran Church, Green Bay; First Lutheran Church, Iron Mountain; Our Savior Lutheran Church, Marinette; St. James Lutheran Church, Marinette; Zion Lutheran Church, Marinette; Bethel Lutheran Church, Menominee; Central Lutheran Church, Menominee; Emmanuel Lutheran Church, Menominee; First American Lutheran Church, Oconto; Salem Lutheran Church, Peshtigo; Porterfield Lutheran Church, Porterfield; and St. Stephen Lutheran Church, Stephenson.

Present members of the Home's Board of Managers will function as the first Board of Directors. Three new members have been added. Officers will be chosen at the Board's first meeting to be held in January. Present members are Albin Anderson, Menominee; Rev. Donald Berg, Peshtigo; Donald E. Bonehan, Marinette; Richard Brunkard, Menominee; S. E. Eastman, Marinette; Robert Stadelman, Pound; Gordon Swanson, Menominee; George Tjaden, Marinette; Rev. Lael Westberg, Peshtigo.

New members who were added at the organization meeting are Rev. George R. Francis, Green Bay, Rev. Frederick Mal, Oconto, and Rev. Wal-fred Nelson, Escanaba.

Area corporations are the pattern now for church related voluntary social service agencies. They bring ownership and operation into closer relationship to those who are being served. In addition to Homes where older folks receive care, Northland Lutheran Services for the Elderly, Inc. also expects to promote a program of services in the interest of those living in their own homes.

Pilot projects have already been initiated in several communities. It is intended to extend the program throughout the northland area of Wisconsin and Upper Michigan.

The airline will place the first of the 362-passenger airplanes into scheduled service late in 1969. Delivery of the first production model 747 to the airline is due in September, 1969.

Pan Am's No. 1 Superjet, dubbed "PA-RA002" by the men and women who are building it, is actually the second 747 on the Boeing assembly line. The first assembly line Superjet belongs to the Boeing

Co., which unveiled the 713,000 pound aircraft for the first time September 30 at a rollout ceremony.

The Boeing aircraft and Pan Am's No. 1 747 will be among five Superjets which will be involved in an intensive flight test program. This program is scheduled to get underway later this month when Boeing's 747 takes off from Paine Field in Everett on its maiden flight.

Three of the five 747's in this test will be Pan Am Superjets. The test program will accumulate over 1,400 flight hours spread over a 10-month period. All major assembly work on Pan Am's No. 1 Superjet has been completed. Before the aircraft rolls into the paint shop, technicians will finish installing flight deck components, hydraulic systems, plumbing, wiring and air conditioning. They also will check the aircraft's doors and windows for proper fit and will test the landing gear.

Boeing has announced that the three Pan Am Superjets in the test program will be used for a wide variety of airframe and power plant evaluations. One airplane will be used for a majority of power plant tests as well as for evaluation of integrated electronic flight control systems, autopilot and flight director systems.

Another will be used to evaluate flight loads under simulated conditions and will perform various mechanical systems tests. The third aircraft, to be completely outfitted with seats and galleys and other passenger service equipment, will be used for functional and reliability certification tests, radio and navigation tests and all testing that requires a complete interior configuration.

While Pan Am's fleet of 747's take shape on the Boeing assembly line, airline engineers and purchasing officials in New York are finalizing contract work to outfit the Superjet Clippers with interior equipment.

Pan Am, which use a seating configuration in the 747 of 58 First Class and 304 Economy Class, has selected two manufacturers to build seats for the Superjet.

UPCAP $68,259 Will Train 100

The Department of Labor in Washington has allocated $150,000 for on-the-job training of 200 persons in Northern Michigan, Senator Philip Hart reports.

The Upper Peninsula Committee for Area Progress gets $68,259 of the money for its OJT program to train 100 persons in all 15 Upper Peninsula counties. UPCAP contracts with Lake Superior State College at Sault Ste. Marie and the Catholic Diocese of Marquette to service the program, which upgrades job skills in on-the-job training in actual work situations in U. P. businesses and industries.

Old Cernik's Regime Resigns

PRAGUE (AP) — The government of Premier Oldrich Cernik is resigning this weekend to make room for Cernik's new federal regime that takes office by Jan. 1, Communist sources said today.

The reason for the reshuffle is the introduction of a new federal system to give more autonomy to the two national groups—Czechs and Slovaks—which form this nation. No startling change in the complexion of the power group is expected.

A federal government, smaller than Cernik's present Cabinet, will direct the federal administration. Functions of other ministries will be shifted to new regional governments, one in Prague responsible for the Czech territories of Bohemia and Moravia, the other in Bratislava, capital of Slovakia.

Qualified sources said the shift is essentially an effort to decentralize some government authority rather than increase conservative influence to appease the Soviets.

War On Poverty

What the Nixon Administration will do about the Johnson Administration's War on Poverty is one of the big questions about our change in national government.

What the Nixon planning is at this time is indicated by the President elect's choice of Daniel Patrick Moynihan, most famed U. S. "urbanologist" as head of the new cabinet level Council on Urban Affairs. Moynihan had much to do with developing the concept of the Johnson Administration's attack on poverty in America, but what he now says about that effort is highly critical. He believes it was oversold, not well planned nor well executed.

Of the community action projects which were to be the core of the program Moynihan contends that the federal government never really understood what community action was all about and "didn't know what it was doing."

Most Americans are apt to charge up the War on Poverty as a casualty of the war in Vietnam, which took away the funds that would have gone to it, but Moynihan says the program was watered down by politicians, professional reformers, educators and intellectuals.

Greatest fluff, he says, was the Johnson Administration's failure to use its period of influence with Congress to get enactment of major, permanent social changes like a fixed full employment program, some sort of minimum income act, etc.

What new?

The poverty problem grows and the nation has noted that even national affluence for most of the population only seems to aggravate it and deepen it for the impoverished. In the past 10 years 2.9 million people have been put on the welfare rolls, which now total 9 million, and the bill for their care has risen even faster than their numbers. Excluding Social Security and other government insurance plans, welfare is costing $5.5 billion (B) a year.

The federal government pays a little more than half of this cost, the cities 12 per cent and the states a third. As Negroes move up from the rural South to the big cities of the North their welfare costs soar. New York adds 20,000 to its welfare rolls each month and the number on the rolls is now 1 million. One of every 8 New Yorkers is getting aid.

No one thinks this can go on forever, but no one has a solution to the problem that can be applied without police method. The average grant per person is $5 a month in Mississippi and $36 in California in Aid to Families with Dependent Children. Once a family leaves the South, it doesn't need to be nearly so poor to qualify for assistance — and gets much more assistance than the South gives.

It is a huge misdirected program of equalization or fincome which floods unskilled blacks into big cities where they become welfare recipients and race militants.

And huge as the nation's expenditures on welfare are, they provide help for only one third of the 26.9 million Americans who suffer from poverty. The others care for themselves and there are many of them in the Upper Peninsula, which is apt to be neglected in a national campaign against poverty because of its rural character and its inclination to "make do" with what it has.

The U. P. has neither large cities nor suburban areas of size. The national pattern of poverty is changing so that 40 per cent of the nation's poor now live in suburbs, where crime and pollution problems are also growing as fast as they are in the central cities.

Many studies are being made of the problem and the most talked of solution seems to be another visit to the Treasury at Washington to help the cities with housing, sewerage, crime control, etc., but such cures bring their own increase in the urban problem by making it a little more tolerable.

Eventually government may in desperation try inducing people not all to crowd into congested cities by making some aids available to those who don't, but there's not much evidence of it yet. We're just putting bigger bandages on the big city headaches.

Pueblo Lesson

It would be wonderful to think that the release of the 82 surviving members of the crew of the USS Pueblo in time for Christmas was a gesture of good will toward men on the part of the North Koreans, a sign that the spirit of the season, which is not an exclusive Christian possession, had permeated even behind the Bamboo Curtain.

Unfortunately, the tales the men have recounted of 11 months of brutal treatment, varied by their debilitated physical condition, preclude any such assumption.

Perhaps it is enough just to be thankful that all the men but one, who was killed at the time the ship was seized, are alive and in fair health. Their bodies will quickly recover from the ordeal under the loving care of their grateful families, though the invisible mental scars they bear may be another matter.

The United States paid a price for their release by signing an apology for the intrusion of the Pueblo into North Korean waters. It has no more validity than the confessions tortured out of accused witches in the Middle Ages, which is about as far as the Asian Communists have progressed on the scale of civilization.

The Pueblo case is a reminder of the deadly character of the Cold War and of the dangers of spying. The American public is in a poor position to judge the innocence of a mission basically devoted to spying on the enemy. If we were caught red-handed we were vulnerable; if not we should be looking for ways to make it the most costly seizure that Korea ever indulged.

Michigan Crops In Record Year

LANSING (AP)— Michigan's top field and fruit crops set records this year, with total output of nearly 11 million tons, says the State Crop Reporting Service.

The total for the state's 17 major crops was up 6 per cent from 1967.

Record high yields were set for corn, oats, barley, sugar beets and all hay, the service reports. These offset production declines for winter wheat, rye and potatoes.

Weather conditions in the spring were "highly favorable" for fall crops, but unfavorable for wheat and rye, the service says.

A warm fall with light to moderate rain was ideal for maturing and harvest of corn, dry beans, sugar beets and other crops, but wheat and rye were damaged by standing water and ice in February.

The service reports that the 17 major field and fruit crops had a combined output of 10.9 million tons in 1968. Output of the 10 major field crops was 10.4 million tons this year, compared with 9.8 million tons in 1967. Fruit production totaled 460,500 tons in 1968, 30 per cent more than the previous year.

The crop reporting service says production was as follows: —Potatoes: 1.83 million hundredweight, down slightly from last year for the late summer crop; 6.24 million hundredweight 12 per cent less than 1967 for the fall crop, because heavy rains caused some lost acreage.

—Acreage for the 10 major field crops: 5.99 million acres this year, compared with 6.21 million acres in 1967. Smaller acreages of corn, wheat and all hay more than offset larger acreages of dry beans, oats and sugar beets, the service reports.

Lower Peninsula Getting Its Snow

Residents of northern portions of Michigan, no strangers to snow, are seeing more than usual this year, the weather bureau reports.

Some areas are showing two to three times as much snow. Cheboygan has recorded 32 total inches so far, compared with a normal snowfall of 23 inches through the end of December. Alpena has had better than 35 inches, compared with a normal 20.

Houghton Lake reports more than double with 38 inches compared to a normal 15½ inches for the period.

Not all areas are reporting increases however. Pellston, which normally gets more than 38 inches through the end of December, had measured only 31 so far. And Sault Ste. Marie, with a normal 39-inch fall, has recorded 41 inches.

Monoxide Kills Detroit Youths

DETROIT (AP)— The bodies of two Detroit youths were found Thursday in the front seat of a borrowed car parked in a Detroit garage, the victims of carbon monoxide poisoning. Police identified the two as Mary Enloe, 19, and Charles Ganos, 22. The car's motor was still running when the two were found. Authorities said the deaths apparently were accidental.

Holyland Holds Clue To Survival, Hope

By DAVID POLING

There are many lessons, stories, and sermons from the Biblical account of the advent of Jesus Christ but none is more timely than the place of his birth. For if we can understand the politics as well as the religion that descended on Bethlehem, we may have a clue to survival in the 20th century.

First of all, Jesus was born in an occupied country. Roman rule extended far beyond the slopes of the Appian Way and Palestine was just one among many countries held in military captivity. Joseph and Mary were away from home because they were part of the system. And the tax system dictated their enrollment to be in the home city of Joseph.

They were on relief. Or at least some scholars believe that Joseph was temporarily out of work. They were dependent, at this crucial hour, on the good will of other people and that meant, finally, the motel out in the barn. Some artists picture a cave.

More than this, they lived in a period of conflict and danger. Herod was half out of his mind with worry when these traveling scholars told him of a new king in a peasant's cradle. Mary and Joseph were warned to leave the country, escaping into Egypt (of all places!) in order to elude the palace assassins who slaughtered every male child under two years. The Holy Family were refugees, on the run, and their descendants speak first-hand of the experience.

I visited Bethlehem this year and who can say that the world has changed since that first Christmas. It remains a tiny village on a hilltop. A historic church marks the manger and several shrines are near but otherwise a farming culture prevails and sheep graze and soldiers rule.

The town of Bethlehem is populated by Arabs. Since the war of 1967, it has fallen under an Israeli military government. The mayor and the civil authorities are Arabs. The policemen and town officials are Arabs—but they are governed by another power with a greater force. To them, it is an occupied country.

And there are refugees present. And a part-time underground movement. And people—on both sides of the conflict—claiming righteousness for their cause and God for their judge.

If we learn nothing else from Bethlehem 1968 and if we gain no other insight from the perils and inconvenience suffered by the Holy Family at the Nativity, we should know one way to get on in a world which may not always be of our choosing, our hopes, our aspirations.

To many this may seem to be the counsel of defeat, the suggestion of a sell-out, the last croak of a cynic. Before you employ such criticism, remember that Jesus grew up with all the burdens, restrictions and disappointments that belong to a defeated nation. Yet out of this unlikely setting, this loser locality, came the Savior of the world preaching hope, forgiveness and reconciliation. Bethlehem 1968 — or Prague 1968 — or Vietnam 1968 — carries the same sorrow, disillusionment and decay that greeted Mary and Joseph. The works of men, the plots of tyrants and the schemes of political bullies do not vanish even for the Son of God.

But what endures, and people ever turn to this good news, is a promise of a justice that prevails and a love that sustains no matter what the present arrangement. They will sing carols in Prague this week. And little children will walk past a tank on the way to Christmas mass in Bethlehem.

We managed to dodge the Unlucky Expert for several months but he finally cornered us again. This time his complaint was about an International Match Point game.

There didn't seem to be anything remarkable about the hand he showed us. We did comment on the fact that the four-heart game was not as ironclad as we would like all contracts to be, but it certainly was not the sort of game you would want to stay out of.

He said, "Look at South's two-club call. He did not have to bid and he surely showed a better hand than he actually held."

We disagreed and felt that South's immediate two-club bid merely showed some distributional values and no desire to double a spade contract. Anyway, the final four-heart contract wasn't astonishing and South's only real problem in the play was to make sure that he led diamonds from his own hand instead of from dummy.

Then we asked, "How did you get killed by this bid?"

He replied, "My partner didn't bid two clubs and it was up to me to act over two spades. Naturally I jumped to three no-trump. East opened a spade and the best I could do was to settle for down one."

We sympathized with the Unlucky Expert, but merely to get rid of him. Actually, we felt that his three no-trump call was frightful. He could expect a spade lead and he had but one spade stopper. He should merely have bid two no-trump. If his partner passed, he would at least show a profit but we are certain that South would have tried a three-club bid, whereupon the Unlucky Expert could have jumped to four hearts.

Maid Complains; No Tip For Most Work

Dear Ann Landers: I could kiss you for printing the letter from "Smartened Up Ex-Wife." She urged every divorced woman to keep hounding the rat until she gets the support money ordered by the court.

I'm a divorcee who raised four children. I've been in court so many times I could conduct the hearings myself. Some women who can't afford to hire a lawyer give up because they don't know their rights. Tell them again, Ann—they can get help from the district attorney. Every county has one. If the bum is in the military, she can go to the chaplain and find out what her legal rights are.

Major tips: Make sure the original divorce papers state the exact amount of payment, plus changes—such as an increase when the children reach high school age, or an increase if the bum should get a raise or strikes oil in his backyard. And don't think it can't happen. It happened to me—LUCKY LEE

Dear Lucky: Congratulations—not on the divorce, on the oil, honey. It's nice to have something to pour on those troubled waters. Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: My 15-year-old granddaughter is unhappy at home. June must share a room with her 13-year-old sister. The poor child must help with the younger children, does part of the ironing, cooking and cleaning. I know she'd be happier here and I'd be delighted to have her. Her parents refuse to let her come. I have a lovely home, two servants, and June could spend her time studying or doing whatever she wished. I could give her an easier life and introduce her to a better class of people. It would be wonderful for me, too, because I am lonely.

—Will you speak for her—and for me?—J. L.
Dear J. L. No. Your granddaughter belongs in her parents' home. Of course she wants to come! Any 15-year-old girl would rather loaf at her grandmother's than scrub, clean and iron and share a room with a younger sister. Your "generous" offer sounds like poorly disguised selfishness. Lay off.

Dear Ann: I am a maid in a very well-known motel. A party of four people just left this room which looks like a cyclone hit it. They left three pennies on the dresser.

Why is it that the bartender gets a tip for mixing a drink, the waitress gets a tip for bringing food, if the engineer comes in with a new light bulb, he usually gets a quarter or 50 cents. The maid gets nothing. Yet she is the one who really does the dirty work. Is this fair?

You are a friend to the working people. Will you say a word for us?—PASSED UP
Dear Passed Up: Happy to. A great many people travel today, and some of them don't know they should leave money for the maid. So—I'm telling them—here and now. Fifty cents a night for one person is about right. One dollar if there are two or more in the room. Anyone who can't afford this modest tip should stay home.

Blood Samples To Sound Hong Kong Flu Presence

Influenza patient blood samples have been taken by the Delta Menominee Health Department to determine whether there is any incidence of Hong Kong flu in this area, Dr. Mary Cretens, director of the department, said today.

The State Health Laboratory at Lansing has not reported back on the results of the tests yet and they have been complicated by contamination of the samples caused by delay in air transportation.

The incidence of other types of influenza appears to be at peak here, from physicians' reports.

Michigan has had a tizzy over distribution of Hong Kong flu vaccine to give immunity against the disease and the Michigan State Medical Society called this week for an agreement among drug makers and health officials to ensure that limited supplies of new vaccines are made available to those who need them most, like heart patients, elderly, etc.

Society Protests

The action followed the Medical Society's formal protest to Parke, Davis & Co., accusing the Detroit drug firm of making an error in selling a large quantity of Hong Kong flu vaccine to the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., while the sick and elderly were unable to get similar protection.

Michigan Bell cannot be reprimanded for obtaining several thousand doses of scarce Hong Kong flu vaccine to protect its employees, according to Dr. John L. Isbister, chief of the Bureau of Community Health of the Michigan Department of Health. Dr. Isbister said Parke-Davis had "a perfect right" to sell the vaccine to Michigan Bell and that the latter showed "foresight" in putting in a large order for the vaccine for its employees.

Dr. Ross Taylor, chairman of the State Medical Society's policy-making council, however, wrote to "Parke-Davis: 'Your firm, I feel, has made an error in diverting 7,000 doses to the Bell Telephone Co. to help protect their workers rather than make adequate vaccine available first to physicians to give to their top-priority patients.'

Strike Cited

Dr. Taylor noted that the phone company was able to function during a strike that removed more workers than might be kept off their jobs by the flu.

"A majority of doctors are bitterly unhappy about diversion of vaccine to large firms, making patients come second," said Dr. Taylor.

In Escanaba the availability of Hong Kong flu vaccine seemed to be a master of the enterprise of pharmaceutical suppliers to individual physicians and groups of physicians. Some of them have Hong Kong flu vaccine for their patients and some do not. Some of the suppliers say that they have been out of the vaccine for a few days or a week, but that they have supplies on hand currently with more on the way.

Conserve Supplies

They have the older Asian and "B" flu vaccines in ample supply, but the Delta Menominee Health Department reported that it was hoarding even these vaccines to stretch its supply over the most urgent local needs. The department urged administration of these vaccines as a help to building up immunity against the flu and announced that it did not plan to buy any Hong Kong flu vaccine because of the cost.

Dr. Cretens said that there is a high incidence of strep sore throat and that persons with a sore throat should contact their family physician because this is the infection which causes serious after effects like rheumatic fever and kidney disease. It is caused by the same germ that causes scarlet fever.

Electrical Demand:

Power Use Peaks At 13,000 K. W.

The use of electric power in the Escanaba community continues to grow, with the peak of 13,000 kilowatts setting a new record for the Escanaba electric utility on Dec. 19, it is reported by William Van Effen, electric department superintendent.

The 13,000 K. W. peak compares to the high of 12,300 K. W. set at the previous holiday season on Jan. 2, 1968.

The peak of nearly a year ago has been topped several times so far this Christmas season with the peak coming the night of Dec. 19. The 13,000 K. W. will probably be exceeded before the end of the holidays, Van Effen believes.

A number of factors combine to create the peak demand including short hours of daylight, holiday decorations in homes and shops and the cooking and other preparations that bring maximum use of electricity.

Consumption of electrical power has gone up year by year in Escanaba, and there is certain to be an additional rise beginning in 1969 when the Chicago & North Western Railway's new ore handling facility goes into operation.

Stockpiling of iron ore at Escanaba, calling for power to operate the car dumper, conveyor, and other equipment will bring a considerable increase in power use here, said Van Effen.

For comparison, back in 1959 on Jan. 5, the peak in Escanaba was 8,356 kilowatts.

Briefly Told

Escanaba police have issued traffic court notices to John L. Neubauer, Chemical Plant Location, failing to exercise due care; Charles J. Palowski, 610 S. 14th St., leaving the scene of a property damage accident; Edward J. Paquin, Spalding, failing to yield the right of way; Diane S. Plouff, 111 S. 9th St., failing to exercise due care; and Edward A. Siedleck, Wells, improper passing.

Linda Nelson, 22, Rapid River, received a summons from State Police Thursday for driving with an expired license after an accident about 9:20 p.m. Troopers said she ran off U.S. 2 and 41, doing minor damage to her car. She was not injured.

County Officials, Judge To Take Oaths Of Office

A new district judge, five members of a new Board of Supervisors and four county officers — two of them elected for their first terms — will be sworn into office Monday by Circuit Judge Bernard H. Davidson.

The swearing-in ceremonies are scheduled for 3 p.m. in the courtroom of the Delta County building, announced Donald K. Goulais of Escanaba, president of the Delta County Bar Association which arranged the program. Goulais will present the officers to the judge.

Although county officers must take the oath of office for each elected term, this will be the first time in recent years that a formal program has been arranged in Delta County.

The new officers take office officially Jan. 1.

Taking the oath of office Monday will be Dean Shipman of Escanaba, the first District Judge for Delta County under the state's court reorganization. The Bar Association will present Shipman with his first judicial robes as part of the program.

Members of the new Board of Supervisors are Stanley Dominick of Ensign, District 1; Frank Stupak of Gladstone, District 2; Phil Miron of Ford River, District 3; Harold Vanlerberghe of Escanaba, District 4; and H. George Nelson of Escanaba, District 5.

Mrs. Myrtle Ottensman of Gladstone, who was elected treasurer to succeed Mrs. Ann Villeneuve, who is retiring, and new Prosecuting Attorney John Beauchamp will be sworn for their first four-year terms.

Beauchamp succeeds Nicholas Chapekis, whom he defeated in the November election. Sheriff Harold O. Finman will take the oath for his first elected term. He was appointed in 1967 to replace Clarence O. Johnson.

William E. Butler will be taking the oath for his 17th year in office as county clerk and register of deeds.

The present Delta County Board of Supervisors will meet at 9:30 a.m. Monday, Butler announced. An agenda for the meeting has not been completed, but the board is expected to take action on several items which must be completed before the close of the calendar year.

Red China Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist China detonated early today a nuclear device with a yield of about three megatons or three million tons of TNT, the Atomic Energy Commission announced.

The AEC said the atmospheric test, the eighth detected by the United States, occurred in the Lop Nor area about 2:30 a.m. EST.

"I must have the feeling that the travelers in the old sailing days used to have. I have that feeling of being proud of the trip and still happy to be going back home and back to our home port."

"We're sure looking forward to home," Lovell said. "We're looking forward to having you back," replied the Mission Control communicator.

Day On Ship

As Apollo 8 telecast its sixth and final show, Borman promised that future Apollo astronauts would beam TV from the desolate surface itself.

"This is Apollo 8 signing off," he said. "We'll see you back on the good earth very soon."

The astronauts planned to remain on the Yorktown for a day, primarily for medical checks. Saturday they are to fly off the carrier to Hawaii and transfer to a larger plane for a flight to Ellington Air Force Base, only a half-hour drive from their homes near the Space Center.

Their families plan to greet them when they land at Ellington at 5 a. m. Sunday—and for a day at least they'll have time for a belated Christmas celebration.

After that they'll begin extensive debriefings on their historic mission, in which they circled the moon 10 times in 20 hours and paved the way for other astronauts to land there sometime next year.

The Hall of Fame at New York University was founded in 1900. The first bust, that of the educator Horace Mann, was put in place on Memorial Day in 1907.

Living Costs Are Up 0.4%

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs rose another four tenths of one per cent last month, continuing the sharpest price spiral since 1951, the government reported today.

Although grocery prices dropped five-tenths of one per cent in November, sharp increases for housing, clothing, transportation and medical care pushed the Labor Department's consumer price index up to 123.4.

The index figure means it cost $12.34 in November for every $10 worth of typical family purchases in the 1957-59 base period.

The price index rose 4.8 per cent during the first 11 months of 1968 and Asst. Commissioner Arnold Chase of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said the 1968 rise will probably wind up at about that level.

This would be the largest increase in consumer prices since the 5.9 increase in 1951 during the Korean war.

Post War Babies Needing Homes

NEW YORK (AP) — A tremendous demand for housing is relentlessly building in the United States but a variety of factors may prevent this demand from being fully satisfied.

As a result, those who presently own homes are likely to see their properties appreciate in value. Those who buy may be forced to pay increasingly higher costs.

The demand is due not only to growing population but to changes in its nature. The post-World War II babies are now marrying, and household formation, which averaged less than 900,000 a year in the 1960s, may reach 1.25 million early in the 70s.

Moreover, the unavailability of credit in the past couple of years or so, and its high cost since then, has delayed the plans of many young families to purchase single family homes. Instead they have become apartment dwellers and renters.

Apartments

This has been reflected in the number of apartment units built compared to single family homes. In 1960 apartment units accounted for about 17 per cent of housing starts. More recently that percentage has doubled.

Nevertheless, apartment vacancies are at very low levels and rents are rising. Many young families are believed unwilling, or unable, to further postpone purchasing their own homes.

At the very time that demand is rising, literally hundreds of thousands of housing units are demolished or abandoned each year. One estimate, by the National Association of Home Builders, puts the demolition figure close to 600,000 a year.

So strong is the resulting pressure for new homes that earlier this year the president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, Lyn E. Davis of Dallas, Tex., flatly predicted one of the greatest real estate booms in history.

Related To Inflation

This boom would seem assured except for these problems: land prices are rising, skilled labor is becoming not only more costly but less available, money costs are rising and so are the costs of materials.

In short, the factors threatening to delay the housing boom are related to inflation. Should the Nixon administration successfully curb the trend, an amazing burst of activity might begin.

Despite the obstacles, an upward trend in activity is already noticeable. The Commerce Department recently reported that November housing starts jumped to an annual rate of 1.68 million units from 1.56 million a month before.

The total number of units built in 1968 will be about 1.5 million, plus another 300,000, or so mobile homes. By the end of 1969 industry sources feel the combined total will be at a rate of more than two million.

Pueblo Intrusion Charged Called Total Fabrication

A Navy spokesman presented an exhaustive study which he said convinced the Navy that the Pueblo was no closer than 16 nautical miles from the nearest North Korean land when it was taken.

Capt. Vincent Thomas, public affairs officer of the Pacific Fleet, said, "there is no doubt that the North Korean allegation that she was seized in North Korean-claimed territorial waters is a complete fabrication."

In International Waters

He said messages from the Korean sub chaser that first challenged the U.S. ship "show that the Pueblo was captured in international waters over 16 nautical miles from the nearest land, four miles outside their claimed territorial limit."

Thomas also read a statement from the chief of naval operations, Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, which said the Navy had noted the inconsistencies in the North Korean claims that the Pueblo had violated the waters of the Communist nation.

Moorer said an analysis of the North Korean charts and maps "confirmed our official conclusion that the commanding officer had followed his orders," which were to remain outside the 12-mile limit.

"So long as the crew was held captive," Moorer added, "we could not make this analysis public without risking grave harm to the men and jeopardizing negotiations for their release."

Report U.S. Troops Doing Less Fighting

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command said today that American troops are doing less fighting than they have at any time in the past three months. But the South Vietnamese government said its forces killed 146 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese in four clashes Thursday, captured 49 new Viet Cong draftees and uncovered a sizable store of munitions.

The South Vietnamese said their losses were nine killed and 33 wounded in the four clashes. Three were in the Mekong Delta and the fourth was near Da Nang.

The heaviest of the fights raged for several hours about 20 miles southwest of Da Nang. There South Vietnamese Rangers reported 74 North Vietnamese and seven rangers killed and 30 rangers wounded.

A government spokesman said the Viet Cong conscripts were captured 23 miles north of Saigon and apparently put up little resistance.

Surprise Attack

"There was some exchange of fire, but I think because they were draftees, they just surrendered," he said. Three South Vietnamese soldiers were wounded.

The spokesman said the government soldiers took the enemy by surprise while searching the area just after daybreak Thursday, while the 72-hour cease-fire proclaimed by the Viet Cong for Christmas was still in effect.

"They were still having their truce period and maybe because of that it was such a big haul," he said.

The Viet Cong cease-fire extended until 1 a.m. today, but the U.S. and South Vietnamese commands ended their Christmas stand-down at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

Slay By Truce

The U.S. Command reported only light contact in scattered actions for U.S. forces.

One high-ranking U.S. officer said it was too early to determine the significance of the lull. But he said the Christmas cease-fire undoubtedly was a factor.

"We felt that for the most part there was a fairly good effort on the part of the Viet Cong to stay by the truce," he said.

American reconnaissance continued during the 24-hour allied cease-fire, and the officer said the enemy apparently did not make any great effort to maneuver troops and supplies during the period.

The U.S. Command said 133 incidents of enemy activity were reported during the allied truce period, and 47 were considered significant because casualties occurred. The allied commands said two Americans, 34 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese and 15 South Vietnamese were killed, while 36 Americans and 35 South Vietnamese were wounded.

Both U.S. and South Vietnamese forces went back on the offensive throughout the country at dawn Thursday. A total of 15 major American sweeping operations and 46 South Vietnamese sweeps were in progress, spokesmen said, but apparently the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were proving elusive.

Mrs. Johnson, Happy, Sad On Going Home

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson says the thing she's happiest about leaving behind after five years in the White House are all the early morning, often ominous, telephone calls to the President.

"The horrendous ring of that telephone at 4:00 o'clock that drags you to consciousness and you know on the other end that it is something significant," Mrs. Johnson says. "And it is never good when it rings at that time."

"It is—and then, the sense of responsibility. It is not my responsibility but it does spill over into the whole climate of your life."

Mrs. Johnson also says she will be happy to leave behind the deadlines she and the President constantly face and the 18-hour work days.

The first lady made her comments in a taped television interview with Howard K. Smith to be shown at 7:30 p.m. EST over the American Broadcasting Co. network.

Mrs. Johnson says the President, like other men across the nation, brings the problems of his job home with him. And he also brings home unexpectedly the people he works with.

She said, however, she wanted the President to bring the burdens home to her after a long day in office.

One of the most difficult things for her to leave behind, Mrs. Johnson said, is what she calls the magnetism of the White House.

"This house is a magnet, a crossroads of good conversation, for ideas, for stimulation," she says. "All the political leaders of the country and indeed of the whole free world come through these doors, and businessmen and labor leaders and people from arts and entertainment and scientists."

"It is an exceedingly stimulating place. That I shall miss. So I think something of that life will go with my husband wherever he goes."

At one point during the interview, President Johnson walked in. He said that Mrs. Johnson gave him great strength during his term. "Except for that, the job would be much more lonely and I am afraid I would be much weaker," he said.

CUTE FRECKLES

Freckles are not all that bad. But how do you convince that girl of yours who thinks she's been cursed with some kind of plague and is about to do anything, scrape her face with sandpaper or even use dynamite. All she would need is an antifreckle cream which has bleaching properties. Apply it on the face for 20 minutes then tissue off. Rinse with soap and water. Repeat the application every day until those freckles fade away.

Relieved Apollo Wives Attend Party Thursday

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — All the guests invited to a hen party at a rookie astronaut's home Thursday night brought goodies—except the wives of the three Apollo 8 astronauts. They brought themselves and it was demonstration enough that all was well.

The waiting was nearly over for Mrs. Frank Borman, Mrs. James A. Lovell Jr. and Mrs. William A. Anders. Their husbands had hurdled a half dozen critical barriers on a round trip to the moon.

Say Welcome With Egg Nog Snow

By The Associated Press
We think you'll love this partytime egg nog dessert.

Several reasons why. First and foremost, it has delightful flavor and texture.

Second, it can be prepared a day ahead of a party and allowed to mellow in the refrigerator.

Then the preparation is simple. You soften the gelatin and dissolve it over low heat. The rest of the action is in beating the cream, egg yolks and egg whites and in combining all the ingredients. That's all there is to it. But one tip: assemble the ingredients and make this Egg Nog Snow without interruption. This way the refrigerated beaten cream and the beaten egg yolk mixture will be able to "wait" only the shortest possible time.

The egg nog used in this recipe is the pre-mixed kind that can be stored on a shelf until the bottle is opened; then it must be refrigerated. The nog is made with a medley of spirits — rum, brandy and blended whiskey — and it's a spirited brew.

EGG NOG SNOW
½ cup cold water
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 container (8 ounces) heavy cream
3 large eggs
1½ teaspoons vanilla
½ cup 30-proof egg nog (from a 4/5 quart bottle)

Into a small saucepan pour the water; sprinkle gelatin over it and set aside to soften.

In a small bowl, whip cream until stiff; refrigerate.

Separate eggs, putting yolks in a medium mixing bowl and whites in a small mixing bowl. Without washing beater, beat yolks slightly; add sugar and beat until thick and lemon color; add vanilla.

Add egg nog to softened gelatin; over very low heat stir until gelatin dissolves and mixture is completely smooth — this will take only a few minutes. Gradually stir into beaten yolks to blend.

With clean beater, beat egg whites until stiff; add to yolk mixture and fold in. You may do this folding at lowest speed of electric mixer or with a rubber spatula; if using spatula, use beater very gently at end of folding to smooth out remaining small blobs of white. Add whipped cream; using spatula, fold in.

Turn into sherbet or parfait glasses, or into a 1½ to 2-quart glass bowl. Chill until set — about 2 hours; or cover bowl with transparent plastic wrap and store overnight. If you like, garnish with whipped cream berries and candied cherries. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Surprise Folks With A Treat In Meatballs

When you put your fork to a meat ball, do you ever wonder if it's going to hold a surprise?

Of course, they do, when they're Surprise Meat Balls. Ingredients in these are few, points out Reba Staggs, meat expert with the National Live Stock and Meat Board. In addition, ground beef is one of the truly thrifty meats which homemakers like using often.

Surprise Meat Balls
1 pound ground beef
2 eggs
½ cup dry bread crumbs
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon onion salt
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
Small stuffed olives

Combine beef, eggs, bread crumbs, pepper, onion salt and garlic salt. Mix well. Shape about 2 teaspoonfuls of mixture around each olive, allowing 1 olive for each meat ball. Broil about 10 minutes, turning occasionally. Yield: 16 to 18.

Youths Steal TV While Man Watches

Mrs. Glenn E. Valentine of 1119 Ashville SW, Albuquerque, N. M. reported to sheriff's deputies recently that two youths entered the home one afternoon about two weeks ago, while she was out, and stole a colored TV set, while her husband, Glenn, 69, who is paralyzed with multiple sclerosis, was watching it. He is a brother of Harold Valentine of Escanaba.

Mrs. Valentine said her husband was on a hospital bed in the living room when two men, about 19 or 20, entered the front door and took the set.

This was the second color TV set taken from the home in 15 days. Mr. Valentine came home from the hospital on Nov. 22 and someone had broken in to the house the night before and taken the other set.

"TV was one of his few pleasures," said Mrs. Valentine. "He could hardly wait to get home from the hospital to see it."

Mr. Valentine had resided in Escanaba prior to his marriage.

Show Strain

The strain showed in their faces on the morning of the launch, when there were two fingernail-biting times—the launch itself on the world's biggest rocket and the maneuver that put the spacecraft on a path to the moon.

But Thursday night all that was gone. Their smiles, as they posed for photographs, were wide and genuine.

Christmas Eve, while her husband was on his last orbit around the moon, Marilyn Lovell took out eggnog and cookies to newsmen wanting to record her Christmas.

Worst Of All

Later she walked around her neighborhood where the lights of Christmas cast a soft glow over the streets. This was only minutes before the space crew—behind the moon and out of communication—fired the big engine to get out of moon orbit. It was the worst time of all, because without that engine firing the astronauts would have been doomed to circle the moon.

All three wives said that engine firing was their best Christmas present.

New Year's Eve Customs Vary Around The World

NEW YORK (NAPS)—While you may raise your glass of champagne from France and sing Auld Lang Syne when the clock strikes 12 on New Year's Eve, your Japanese counterpart may be sipping cola from America while singing Otanjobi Omedeto Gozaimasu (Happy Birthday To You)—for the stroke of midnight means it's everyone's birthday!

In ancient China, people took a different approach to the First Day. They cleaned house, paid debts and closed their shops. Then they shot off firecrackers and who can ever forget a New Year's in Chinatown of any big American city, with its colorful procession of paper dragons breathing good cheer to everyone!

New Clothes

In old Japan, New Year's was a time for everybody to don new clothes, take three days off from work and visit their friends. Each gatepost would be adorned with green pines and bamboo. And over each door would hang red lobster, crabs and scarlet tangerines, standing for long life and happiness.

Gypsies in Spain used to marry on New Year's Eve. The 18th century writer George Borrow tells us that a main feature of the bridal ceremony was the feasting associated with it. Once the Gypsy couple took their vows, guests swirled down sherry and ate and sang and danced throughout the night and day.

Exchange Gifts

Not to be outdone, Italians just consider Jan. 1 as part of their Yuletide festival, and so revel until Twelfth Night, 12 days after Christmas. In France, New Year's Day is so singular that adults let Christmas pass by and exchange presents on Jan. 1.

The ancient Egyptians, Phoenicians and Persians began their year at the autumnal equinox (Sept. 21) and the Greeks until the fifth century B. C. at the winter solstice (Dec. 21). The ancient Romans once celebrated the beginning of the year on Dec. 21 but Caesar by the adoption of the Julian calendar postponed it to Jan. 1.

Shoot Cannon

Though wining, dining and merry-making have been traditional ways to celebrate New Year's, each country has its own technique. In Switzerland, not only people get all fired up, but also cannon: the peaceful Swiss shoot off all their cannon at midnight. Shaking and breaking is a popular technique in Italy, where New Year's is welcomed not only with dancing, but also by

Indian Ceremonies

On the other side of the ocean, however, rites marking the beginning of the new year were also practiced by many North American Indian groups, but the time for such ceremonies varied. For the Seneca, an Iroquois group of the Eastern Woodland, the New Year begins in February; for the Eskimo, in the fall; for the Northwest California tribes, late in July; for the Hopi, in November; and for other Pueblo Indians, at the winter solstice.

New Year's observances among the Indians varied from area to area. The Seneca rites, for instance, last a total of seven to eight days. On the first day all fires are put out and the ashes scattered. New fire is made and a white dog is strangled and hung up. During the next days people in masquerade rush from house to house, boys steal food, people ask for interpretations of their dreams, and women sprinkle water on passersby.

Church School Program Sunday At Immanuel

At 4 p. m. on Sunday the Sunday School classes of Immanuel Lutheran Church, nursery through ninth grade, will present their Christmas program.

The service will begin with a responsive reading lead by the Sunday School Superintendent Mrs. Clarence Gerdeen.

Following this there will be recitations by the nursery, kindergarten, first, second and third grade classes. The Christmas Gospel will be read by the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh grades. Throughout the program there will be music by the three youth choirs. The Cherub Choir, directed by Donna Krueger will sing, "Bells," "Bethlehem Lay Asleeping," "I Am So Glad Each Christmas Eve."

The Junior Choir, directed by Mrs. Robert Schrader, will sing, "O Little Town of Bethlehem," "When Christmas Morn Is Dawning," "It Came Upon The Midnight Clear."

The Confirmation age Luther Choir directed by Donna Krueger, will sing the Christmas Carols, "What Child Is This?", "Angels We Have Heard On High" and "Silent Night."

All members and friends are invited to attend this Christmas Service.

Spanish Motif Teams Pork, Orange, Onions

When homemakers can skip from one country to another in a culinary adventure, meals need never be dull.

Take a dining adventure to sunny Spain by using pork tenderloin patties with orange and onion slices. This most tender section of the pork loin needs braising to develop its flavor fully.

Spanish Tenderloin Patties
6 pork tenderloin patties
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg, beaten
¾ cup fine cracker crumbs
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
6 orange slices
6 onion slices
¼ cup water

Add salt to beaten egg. Dip tenderloin patties in egg and then in cracker crumbs. Brown slowly in lard or drippings. Arrange an orange slice and onion slice on each patty. Add water, cover tightly and cook slowly 30 minutes or until well done. 6 servings.

Tests for Foam

When buying urethane foam for mattresses or pillows, squeeze the foam firmly between thumb and index finger. It should return to shape as soon as you release it. Next, put your lips to it and blow hard. Good foam has open cells and you should be able to blow through it. Give it a good twist. The foam should immediately snap back. Don't worry about foam turning yellow. Nearly all white foam eventually yellows after exposure to the atmosphere.

Ventilation Is Answer For Fogging Windows

By ANDY LANG

Every automobile driver knows that he can clear the windshield of foggy mist by opening a window at his side.

Explain Rights Only In Felony

LANSING (AP) — Where the defendant in a criminal case is charged only with a misdemeanor the judge is not required to tell him of his right to an attorney, the State Court of Appeals has ruled.

Upholding the Detroit Recorder's Court conviction of three women for accosting and soliciting, the appeals court said the State Constitution guarantees all criminal defendants the right to counsel.

But, it added, the constitution does not require a judge to advise the defendant of that right. The requirement, it said, is found in the State's General Rules, and applies only in felony cases.

The court also held that a railroad which is not incorporated in Michigan does not have express legal authority to condemn lands in the state. The ruling reverses a Saginaw County condemnation case previously decided in favor of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Co., which is incorporated in Virginia.

The court reversed the recorder's court conviction of George Mashlajkian, who was ticketed for operating a lodging house without a license. Mashlajkian had applied for a license renewal two years before receiving the ticket, but the city of Detroit had taken no action.

If the city fails to act on an application, the court said, "it should not be heard to say that licensee's rights are at an end and that it can thus put the renewal applicant out of business without notice of hearing."

"It is not too much to expect," the court added, "that the city which seeks to enforce the law itself obey the law."

Ghosts still haunt many countries. The mountain kingdom of Mustang in Nepal counts 416 demons of land, sky, fire and water. In England more than 150 castles and countless stately homes boast resident spooks. Chinese Communists clarified their party line on haunts in 1956. There is a place for "spirits" in Chinese life under Mao, but "wizards, fairies and ghosts" are prohibited.

As the air along the inside of the windshield is diluted by the colder outside air, the contrast on opposite sides of the windshield is greatly reduced. The fogging, a form of condensation, disappears.

Ventilation is also an efficient way of reducing or eliminating the condensation on the inside windows and walls of houses. The modern house is a container of humidity that needs to be lowered. Condensation is the sign of excessive humidity or water vapor inside the house.

Even in warm, dry areas of the country, humidity is sometimes a problem, as it is a relative condition. On a cool day, droplets of water form on windows chilled by the outside air when it comes in contact with the cooler surface of the window glass.

In colder climates, the contrast of interior and exterior temperatures is, of course, much greater. The formation of frost on the insides of windows is not uncommon especially when there are no storm windows—unless steps are taken to reduce humidity or to warm up cold surfaces, or both. In some cases, frost even forms on the inside of storm windows, an indication that moist air is leaking through the regular window and hitting the storm window.

The results of condensation include water stains on sills, wall areas and floors beneath the windows. There is hidden damage when water seeps through cracks in sill molding and drips onto the wood framework inside the walls. Even less obvious is the damage caused when excessive humidity inside a house passes through the interior walls to the outside walls, especially when there are insufficient vapor barriers.

There are two major ways of eliminating condensation. One is to provide means for the moist air to escape from the house quickly and easily. The other is to trap the excessive moisture. Among the escape methods are the use of louvers and exhaust fans. Merely opening a troublesome window half-inch often will work.

One home owner solved his problem by opening the damper of his living room fireplace for one hour twice each day. Trapping the moisture involves the use of a dehumidifier, of which there are many varieties and sizes, ranging in price from a few dollars to hundreds of dollars. Naturally, the more sophisticated models, operated by electricity, extract larger amounts of moisture from the air.

$1 Million Housing Plan For Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—A $1 million housing plan was among six proposals for Detroit's Model Neighborhood slated for discussion today by the city's Common Council.

The money would be spent on $600 to $700 grants to about 1,600 eligible residents of the neighborhood and would come from the federal government as part of a $20.4 million model cities grant. The money would be used to help residents buy their own homes.

Other programs discussed were aimed at strengthening building code enforcement in the area, giving area residents more voice in police and public school affairs, increasing job training programs and access to public service agencies and educational and health proposals.

Copies of the plans, which must be approved by federal officials before Detroit gets funds, were distributed to Council members Thursday. Councilmen promptly asked David Cason, director of the Model Neighborhood program, to appear today to "discuss" the proposals.

Winter Can Wreak Havok With Plants

By MR. FIX

Trees and shrubs around your house need special protection if they are to survive a severe winter. Aside from the sentiment involved, they represent a real investment and should be protected from damage.

Materials needed are not difficult to obtain and many are right at hand. Rope, wire, burlap, hardware cloth, stakes, piles of leaves, even sawdust are among the materials you will find useful. You will not need all of them, perhaps not many of them at all and it is likely that you will find ways to improvise.

Know what you are trying to prevent and you will be able to figure out the best ways to proceed.

At the ground level, frost-heaving will cause roots near the surface to be exposed. The subsequent exposure can be killing.

A little higher up, starving rodents will chew off the bark, nibble on buds on the ends of branches.

Over-all wind damage can result due not only to the severity of the wind but the drying effect as well. On the protected side of the house the plant can suffer from sunburn even though it is winter. The sun may start the sap rising and some real cold night the new sap will expand when it freezes, causing plant cells to burst.

Before doing anything else make certain that plants are well-watered. Keep watering until the ground starts to freeze. Keep the earth moist in spite of freezing temperatures by mulching which provides insulation. Leaves make an excellent mulch. Chop them first with your lawn mower so that they don't mat down too heavily. Sawdust, wood shavings, grass clippings, chopped corn cobs, peat moss — all make good mulching materials. Mix them if you don't have enough of one. Pile several inches deep and two or three feet out from the trunk.

To prevent small, hungry animals from gnawing on tender trees and shrubs, use wire screen (the coarse hardware cloth variety) as a shield. Make a cylinder of the material, keeping it several inches away from the trunk. Bury the lower end several inches into the ground so that animals cannot burrow under it. When planning the height, try to remember how high snow will drift in your area. A small animal can sit on top of drifts.

Young trees can be wrapped in burlap part way up the trunk, both as protection against animals and against wind damage. Make a windbreak (which will also keep out some of the sun) out of lengths of snow fence or pieces of burlap tacked to posts driven into the ground. This also will protect the plants against the drifting snow.

The multiple stems of some trees, such as Chinese arborescences and some junipers, should be tied together with soft string or cloth so that snow will not spread them apart. Wide-spreading evergreens (yews and spruce) should be propped up with scrap lumber in the event of a heavy snow. Shake off excess snow as soon as possible.

Newly planted trees should be heavily watered, mulched, staked and held in place with a loop of wire. Cover the wire with a piece of hose to protect the tree.

Actor Alan Bates Is Hollywood Unknown

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — British actor Alan Bates spent a large part of his first Hollywood visit in his hotel room, nursing the Hong Kong flu.

"I did get to take a ride along Sunset Boulevard," he commented with a baleful smile. Because of his indisposition, he saw little else, nor did Hollywood see much of him. Too bad. Because Alan Bates is one of the most admired of the young English actors.

He is also one of the least known. Lacking the flamboyance of Richard Burton or Peter O'Toole, he is little recognized by the American public, despite a string of topnotch parts in successful films.

"The reason may be because I've played such diverse roles," he remarked. "That's really what I'm interested in, not the money. Oh, I suppose you hear a lot of actors say that, but it is true in my case. I enjoy money — don't get me wrong. But to play a good part I am willing to take a cut in salary against a percentage of the profits."

"I think that makes sense: to share some of the risk on a worthwhile project that might not be assured of commercial success. I did that on my last picture, 'Women In Love,' a D. H. Lawrence story that wouldn't have been made if we hadn't all worked for less."

The diverse roles of Alan Bates have ranged from the wide-eyed square of "Zorba the Greek" to the libertine of "Georgy Girl," from the sullen shepherd of "Far from the Madding Crowd" to the persecuted inmate of "The Fixer." The latter was the reason for his visit here. His performance may win an Academy Award nomination.

He arrived in full beard, which may be another reason he went largely unrecognized. The beard was required for his last three roles "Richard III" at Canada's Stratford, "The Fixer" and "Women in Love" — and he intends to divest himself of it as soon as he is assured of no retakes on the last one.

The actor cited repertory as the major source of England's unending supply of fine actors. "There are theaters throughout England that offer excellent opportunities for young performers," he said. "Not only in the classics. Fortunately there are many new plays that are also in repertory."

If America could somehow develop its regional theaters, he added, this country might also benefit from an outpouring of acting talent. But despite the efforts of the Ford Foundation and others, it hasn't happened here yet.

Seney Refuge Pools Are Open To Fisherman

SENEY—The Seney National Wildlife Refuge will be open for ice fishing and spearing. This winter, as in past years, all refuge pools will be open to fishing from Jan. 1 through Feb. 28. Access may be gained through the headquarters road or the sub-headquarters road south of Germfask and the Driggs River Road located 8 miles west of Seney. The roads into A, C and M pools in Unit II and C Pool in Unit III will be plowed for the opening.

Northern pike are found in all the pools and good numbers of perch are also present. State fishing regulations apply to all ice fishing and spearing on the refuge. In addition to these, refuge regulations prohibit the use of minnows for fishing. However any other live bait or artificial lures may be used.

Information on fishing on Seney Refuge is available at the refuge office on Highway M-77 between Germfask and Seney.

Even In Shooting

JACKSON (AP) — A 28-year-old Jackson woman refused to sign a complaint against her husband after she was shot in the leg during a Christmas Day argument at their home.

Police, who did not release the couple's names, said that when they asked why she declined to sign the woman replied, "I shot him a couple of years ago and now we are even."

Employment Red Tape Delays Highway Bids

LANSING (AP) — The question of equal opportunity employment has forced postponement of a scheduled Jan. 8 bid letting, the State Highway Commission said Thursday.

The commission explained that a Federal Highway Administration order on equal employment opportunity took effect Dec. 1.

It requires contractors bidding on federal aid highway projects costing more than $500,000 to certify they are undertaking "affirmative action programs" to assure equal employment opportunity without regard to a worker's race, color, religion or national origin, the commission said.

Forms sent to more than 300 Michigan contractors last month must be approved by the State Highway Department and the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads before a contractor can qualify for construction contracts.

Many contractors have yet to be qualified, said highway director Henrik Stafseth. He added that the same situation exists in other states.

The five-week delay affects bids on projects totaling an estimated $5.8 million, the commission said. Those bids are expected to be added to those on an estimated $15.4 million of projects to be let Feb. 12.

The largest project set for the January bid letting calls for nearly three miles of grading and paving on M 139 in Berrien County. Others are in Genesee, Houghton, Iosco, Jackson, Kent, Lenawee, Muskegon and Oakland Counties.

Hollywood 1968, Resume Of Events

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This was the year in Hollywood when...

Cary Grant, the screen's perfect husband, was accused by his wife of beating her while on LSD trips. The divorce revelations did nothing to diminish his popularity.

Jack Valenti put across a rating system for movies. Producers began vying for an X, which means a picture is unfit for children and hence enticing for adults.

The new status symbol among film stars became the million-dollars-per-picture fee. Liz Taylor and Richard Burton welcomed new members to the club: Julie Andrews, Lee Marvin, Paul Newman.

And Barbra Streisand made that exclusive society before being seen on the screen.

Nudity In Films

Two assassinations prompted Hollywood to search its soul about violence on the screen. Film makers began brawling with each other over the issue.

Nudity in films hit new bottoms: Rod Steiger's, Charlton Heston's, Paul Newman's, etc.

Barbra Streisand's husband struck a new note in press relations by allegedly slugging a photographer for taking too many pictures.

The production code for self-censorship was relaxed almost to the point of apathy. A popular new formula for movie plots: boy meets girl, boy loses girl, girl gets girl.

And there was almost as much girl-girl and boy-boy kissing on the screen as there was of the usual kind.

Vanessa Redgrave paused between making American-financed movies to lead anti-American parades in London.

Jackie Stars

A new candor was sounded in interviews. Lee Marvin talked about housekeeping with his girl friend. Alex Cord discussed his decision to marry Joanna Pettet before the birth of their baby.

And just where was it that Eddie Fisher married Connie Stevens?

Frank Sinatra gave up Mia Farrow and Elizabeth Taylor, the former in marriage, the latter in a movie.

Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis pushed all the film stars off the movie magazine covers with her own headline-making.

National Forest Needs Examined

Region Forester George S. James of Milwaukee has announced plans to re-evaluate reforestation needs on national forests throughout Wisconsin and the Upper Peninsula.

According to James, nearly 542,000 acres of land have been reforested to date on the Chequamegon, Nicolet, Ottawa and Hiawatha National Forests. He stressed, however, that land use patterns are in a state of continual flux, noting that growing emphasis is being placed on the management of wildlife habitat, watersheds, recreation and natural beauty.

James said that recent inventories of many thousands of acres of land indicate that many areas are still poorly stocked and open. These areas will be subject to appraisal for the role they may subsequently play in expanding multiple-use management requirements on the national forests.

Eskymos Defeat Crusaders In Annual Alumni Contest

After a lot of huffing and puffing, the Escanaba Eskymos alumni basketball squad managed to come out on the top end of an 84-70 score over the Holy Name Crusader alumni in the 11th Annual Alumni Basketball game played last night at the Holy Name High School gymnasium before a packed house.

The two teams played evenly throughout the first quarter with the Eskymos taking a 14-10 lead with about three minutes left to play. A pair of field goals and a free throw by Jim Shandonay and another field goal by Mike Kidd enabled the Holy Name squad to take a 17-15 lead when the horn sounded to end the period.

Bob Myrvall and Dave Nyquist started scoring for the Eskymos in the second quarter and helped the Escanaba team to build up a 29-21 lead about midway through the period. Holy Name cut the gap to three points, 32-29, a short time later on field goals by Dave Cannon, Shandonay and Tom Menard and a pair of free throws by Walt Veldman, but Ray Anderson, Bill Carlson and Rick Kuchenberg quickly put the Eskymos back out in front by eight points as the quarter ended, 41-33.

Escanaba built their lead to 14 points in the third period on the scoring of Nyquist and Dick Sivertsen as the Holy Name alumni were a little slow in getting started. Tom Smith and Kidd started hitting from the outside and were able to keep the Crusaders in the game and only trailing 63-51 as the third quarter came to a close. Sivertsen finished the quarter with nine points, mainly because of his quickness and alertness on defense.

Escanaba carried a 21 point lead about midway through the fourth and final period before Holy Name cut the gap to ten points on some fine shooting by Cannon, Smith and Veldman. Big men in the Eskymo drive were Carlson, Rick Kuchenberg and Tom Boyle. Sivertsen went to work with Myrvall to put the Eskymo alumni ahead by 14 points as the horn sounded to end the game.

Sivertsen, easily the most outstanding player in the game, finished the night with 23 points to top all scorers on the floor. His speed and agility paid off on many occasions as he turned Holy Name mistakes into Escanaba points.

Also hitting in double figures for the Eskymos were Kuchenberg with 14 points, Myrvall with 11 and Nyquist with 10.

Veldman and Smith paced the Holy Name attack with 13 points apiece and teammates Menard and Shandonay chipped in with 12 and 10 respectively.

The victory left the Escanaba team with a 9-2 edge in the 11-game series.

The St. Anne's 7th and 8th grade team scored a 29-21 victory over Flat Rock in the preliminary game.

Grid Bowl Season Set For 11-Game Blast Off

By The Associated Press

It's time for the nation's college football fans to go into orbit around their television sets.

All systems are "go" as the bowl season is about to blast off with 11 games in the next six days, most of them to be televised somewhere or other.

However, the University of Michigan, which missed out on a trip to the Rose Bowl, got its licks in Thursday night by winning the Coach Bowl. The Wolverines tapped Glenn "Bo" Schembechler of Miami, Ohio, to succeed Chalmers "Bump" Elliott as head coach. The Associated Press learned. Elliott will move up to associate athletic director.

In six seasons at Miami, Schembechler's teams won 40 games, lost 17 and tied three. As a student there, he played under Woody Hayes, whose Ohio State team is going to the Rose Bowl.

The action on the field begins tonight when Ohio University, unbeaten, untied and ranked 15th in the nation, meets Richmond's Southern Conference champions in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla.

The Bobcats of the Mid-American Conference were 16th in total offense, 14th in rushing offense and fifth in scoring with an average of 37.6 points a game.

Individually, quarterback Cleve Bryant was ninth in total offense and fullback Bob Howard was fifth in scoring with 19 touchdowns.

Richmond is an air-minded team. The combination of quarterback Buster O'Brien passed for 1,961 yards and 21 touchdowns while Gillette caught 50 passes for 857 yards and eight scores.

Saturday finds Missouri against Alabama in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla.; Auburn and Arizona in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., and two all-star contests—the East-West Shrine Game in San Francisco and the Blue-Gray at Montgomery, Ala.

Next week it's the Peach Bowl Monday, the Blue Bonnet Bowl Tuesday and the Rose, Orange, Cotton and Sugar Bowls Wednesday.

A crowd of 68,000 is expected to watch a defensive battle between Missouri and Alabama in the Gator Bowl. Bama ranked fifth in total defense and defense against scoring and seventh in rushing defense. Missouri was eighth in total defense and fifth in pass defense but the Tigers also ranked 12th in rushing offense and 21st in total offense.

They have an All-American in safety Roger Wehrli, the nation's No. 1 punt returner.

The Sun Bowl also could be a defensive struggle in this year of the exploding scoreboard. Although Auburn has a potent aerial duo in Loran Carter and Tim Christian and Arizona has a fine receiver in Ron Gardin, they also rank among the defensive leaders.

Arizona finished seventh in total defense and 14th in rushing defense while Auburn was eighth in defending the rush.

The East-West game suffered a casualty when Wake Forest quarterback Freddie Summers fractured a foot in practice, leaving East Coast Duffy Daugherty when 1½ signal-callers—Dennis Brown of Michigan and Ed Podolak of Iowa, who was switched to halfback during the season.

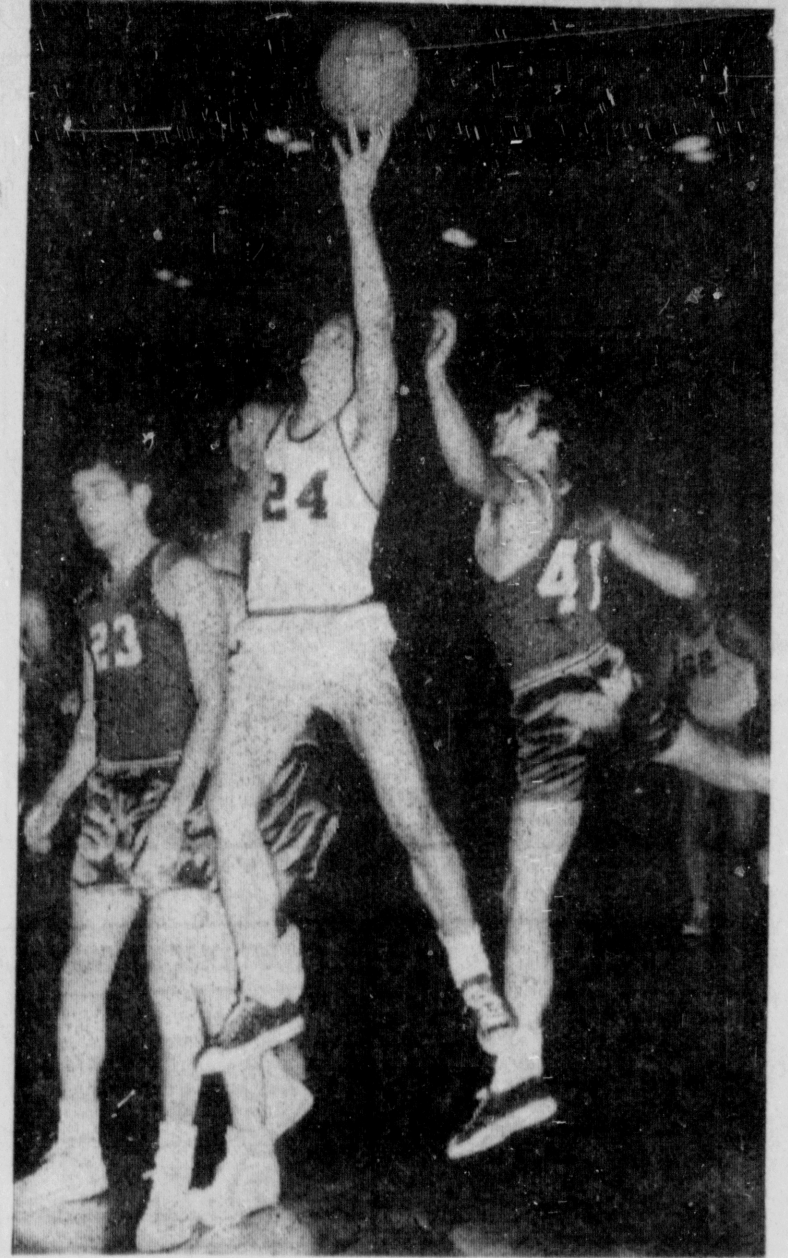

McCullough Feted By Sporting News

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Earl McCullough of the Detroit Lions was named by The Sporting News Thursday as the National Football League's rookie of the year.

McCullough, a Southern California product, caught 40 passes for 680 yards and five touchdowns in his first year in the pros.

The rookie scored two touchdowns against the Green Bay Packers in the College All-Star game and started fast with the Lions.

McCullough scored on an 80-yard pass play in his first game against the Dallas Cowboys. He added catches for 38 and 15 yards against Chicago the next week and a few weeks later caught 60 and 11-yard touchdown passes in the Green Bay contest.

Michigan Picks New Grid Coach

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The University of Michigan named Glenn E. Schembechler of Miami University in Ohio—a school known as the Cradle of Coaches—as its head football coach today.

He was given a five-year contract at an estimated salary of $22,500 a year.

The appointment of Schembechler was announced by Don Canham, Michigan's athletic director who said the new coach was "chosen because of his background and credentials."

He succeeds Chalmers "Bump" Elliott, who was named earlier this week as assistant athletic director, after nearly 10 years as Michigan coach.

The Associated Press reported Thursday night that Schembechler has been selected for the coaching job and the official announcement was made at a mid-morning news conference today.

Schembechler told newsmen he had been contacted a week ago by Canham to see if he was interested in the Michigan head coaching job.

"I have always wanted to be a coach in the Big Ten," he said. Of his job and Michigan's football prospects, Schembechler said, "I am looking forward to my new position with great enthusiasm. Michigan has a great football background. I am naturally tremendously excited about the new job."

"I think my Michigan coaching staff will be made up of some of my old Miami University staff and some of the present Michigan staff. I had a chance to talk to the Michigan staff people the other day, but I have not had a chance to discuss matters individually with the members of my Ohio staff."

Asked when he would take over the coaching job, he replied, "I am starting right now. . . I have a lot of work to do."

Quered about his philosophy of football, Schembechler replied with a grin, "I like to avoid mistakes." He said, "I think defense is tremendously important. . . as far as our offense is concerned, it will depend on what type of personnel we have and I will learn more about that in spring training and from Bump Elliott."

Schembechler said he did not know who had recommended him for the Michigan job. "I have not patterned myself after any one coach although I have been associated with many."

He added, "I come from an excellent school where I liked my job and I had not sought another job. I would consider this job about as high as I could go in coaching."

As to differences between play in the Mid-America Conference and the Big Ten he said, "The main difference is that teams in the Mid-Am do not have the depth the Big Ten does."

The first word on Schembechler's impending appointment came Thursday from Van Patrick, Detroit radio and television sportscaster.

Schembechler, who played offensive tackle at Miami from 1948 to 1950 and early '50s, is the latest of many, a Miami graduate to be selected for top rank coaching.

Some include pro coaches Paul Brown, who led the Cleveland Browns for many years and now coaches the Cincinnati Bengals, and Webb Ewbank of the New York Jets, and college mentors Ara Parseghian of Notre Dame, John Pont of Indiana, Carmen Cozza of Yale, Paul Dietzel of South Carolina, and former Army coach Col. Earl "Red" Blaik.

In addition to playing as undergraduates, Parseghian and Pont also coached at Miami, located in the southwest Ohio town of Oxford.

In his report Thursday, sportscaster Patrick said Schembechler had been recommended by Parseghian.

Schembechler was graduated from Miami in 1951 and received his master's degree at Ohio State, where he served as an assistant to Hayes.

Schembechler also served as an assistant to Parseghian at Northwestern.

He led Miami to two Mid-American Conference football championships and three second-place finishes. He was named coach of the year in 1965, and Ohio coach of year in 1966.

During 1966, the Miami Redskins had a 12-game winning streak the longest in the nation at the time.

It is the first time since 1938, when Fritz Crisler arrived from Princeton, that Michigan has gone outside its own family for a head football coach.

Earlier rumors this week had given former Michigan line coach Bob Holloway the inside track for the job. Others mentioned included Penn State's Joe Paterno, Georgia's Vince Dooley and Tennessee's Doug Dickey.

Lakers Triumph In Last Seconds

By The Associated Press

Jerry West crashed the National Basketball Association's 16,000-point barrier . . . and kept driving for more.

The Los Angeles backcourt ace dribbled almost the length of the floor and put in a driving, one-hander with 10 seconds to play, giving the Lakers a 95-94 victory over the Detroit Pistons Thursday night.

Earlier in the game West, who finished with 29 points, became the eighth player in NBA history to reach the 16,000 career mark.

Elsewhere, Boston drubbed Milwaukee 139-106, Philadelphia stopped Baltimore 125-120, Chicago trimmed Cincinnati 104-95, Atlanta riddled Seattle 126-96 and San Francisco nosed out Phoenix 119-118.

Indiana nipped Minnesota 134-133 in overtime and Miami slipped past Houston 111-108 in American Basketball Association play.

The Lakers wiped out a seven-point deficit in the final 3½ minutes behind the shooting of West and Elgin Baylor, who scored 20 points in all. Detroit missed a shot with 14 seconds remaining and the Lakers grabbed the rebound. West took it the rest of the way.

Detroit's Dave Bing tallied 31 points and Walt Bellamy hauled down 28 rebounds, the most any Piston has had in the last eight years.

Coach Paul Seymour called Detroit's performance "the best we've played since I took over," but added, "we may run out of games."

Boston broke loose for 11 consecutive points . . . nine by Larry Siegfried . . . midway in the first period and breezed past the Bucks to end a three-game home court losing string. John Havlicek led the Celtics' attack with 29 points, Bailey Howell got 27 and Siegfried 23 . . . including 17 in the first half.

Chet Walker tossed in 34 points as Philadelphia snapped Baltimore's winning streak at nine games by knocking off the Bullets for the 14th time in a row since the tailend of the 1966-67 season. The victory pulled the 76ers within 2½ games of first place Baltimore in the Eastern Division.

Jerry Sloan scored 24 points and combined with Bob Boozer and Bob Weiss to thwart a late Cincinnati rally as the Bulls broke a three-game losing string. Tom Van Arsdale sparked the Royals' comeback, hitting 13 of his 28 points in a six-minute fourth quarter stretch.

Lou Hudson's 28 points and 25 by Zelmo Beay led Atlanta past Seattle. The Hawks exploded for 42 points in the third period to break the game open.

San Francisco's Bill Turner, whose 28 points marked a personal career high, divided 10 points with teammate Joe Ellis in the last three minutes, enabling the Warriors to hold off the Suns. The Warriors posted their third straight victory despite a 40-point burst by Gail Goodrich of Phoenix.

Brenner Receives NCAA Scholarship

EAST LANSING (AP) — Spartan football All-American Al Brenner has won a $1,000 post-graduate scholarship from the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA).

The Michigan State senior was one of 33 from across the nation to receive the awards, announced Thursday by NCAA president Marcus L. Plant of Michigan. The scholarships go to senior players who have excelled in both football and academic subjects during their college years.

Brenner, currently practicing with the east squad for Saturday's East-West Shrine game at San Francisco, has compiled a 3.65 grade point average of a possible 4.0 over the past three years. He plans to go on to law school.

Brenner already had been named winner of a $500 award for graduate work from the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame.

The NFL ruled that all players must wear helmets in 1942.

Colts Keep Eye On Leroy Kelly

CLEVELAND (AP) — The night before Cleveland met Baltimore during the regular season, Bill Nelsen, the Browns' quarterback and former Southern California star, picked up a newspaper to see how his alma mater had done that day.

"The first thing I noticed," Nelsen recalls, "was that USC had run O. J. Simpson more than 30 times. And I remember thinking 'a guy can get killed running that many times in one game.'"

"The next day the first thing I did after we played the Colts was to get hold of a statistical sheet, and the first thing I noticed was that I had run Kelly 30 times."

Kelly is Leroy Kelly, and he survived the workout Nelsen gave him.

But he killed the Colts, penetrating the Baltimore defense for 130 yards on his 30 carries while also catching two passes and scoring a pair of touchdowns as the Browns took a 30-20 victory.

That's the only blemish on the Baltimore record in 15 games so far this season and Kelly's performance that day is probably the major reason Baltimore Coach Don Shula says "we'll be watching him all the time Sunday" when the two teams meet in the National Football League title game.

Shula, Morrall Receive Honors

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Quarterback Earl Morrall and Coach Don Shula of the Baltimore Colts were named National Football League player and coach of the year Thursday by The Sporting News.

Morrall and Shula led the Colts to a 13-1 record in the Western Conference of the NFL.

Morrall spent 12 years in the NFL with several teams, mostly as a second stringer, and came off the bench for the injured John Unitas to achieve stardom.

Sidelined Hockey Stars Report Back For Action

By The Associated Press

Two sidelined stars, Gump Worsley and Rod Gilbert, are ready to return to National Hockey League action but the question is whether their replacements will let them.

Worsley, goaltender for the Montreal Canadiens, will begin working out today after sitting out a month to rest shattered nerves.

Gilbert, out three weeks with a chipped bone and stretched ligaments in his left ankle, skated Thursday following New York's game with Oakland and reported himself ready for at least partial work in the Rangers' weekend series with the Canadiens.

Worsley returns with the Canadiens in first place, thanks mainly to the efforts of his replacement, rookie Tony Esposito. Montreal moved in the East Division lead Thursday night with a 4-2 victory over Toronto as Esposito kicked out 34 shots.

Gilbert's replacement has been Reggie Fleming, who has a four-game scoring streak going for himself. Fleming's latest was the first goal in New York's 3-1 victory over Oakland Thursday night.

In other games Thursday, St. Louis downed Pittsburgh 3-2 and Minnesota and Los Angeles played to a 4-4 tie.

Montreal was down 2-1 before Henri Richard and Bobby Rousseau beat Toronto goalie Bruce Gamble in the second period. Then John Ferguson's 10th goal of the year wrapped up the scoring in the final period.

Esposito, a Michigan Tech graduate, has played 10 games, two of them shutouts, and has a 2.50 goals against average since taking over for Worsley and Roger Vachon, Montreal's other goalie who is out with a broken hand.

It was only the second loss in 11 games for the Maple Leafs, who remain in third place, three points behind Montreal and two back of idle Boston.

Fleming, who had managed one goal in New York's first 30 games, continued his sudden hot streak with a second period tally against Oakland that snapped a scoreless tie. He was parked in front of goalie Gary Smith when Jean Ratelle found him with a perfect pass.

"What's the secret of my sudden success?" laughed Fleming, repeating a reporter's question. "The puck's going in the net, that's the secret. I've had better chances and seen the puck do everything but go in."

Phil Goyette and Dave Balon were the other Ranger scorers. Balon's goal breaking a 24-game dry spell for him. Gary Jerrett scored Oakland's goal.

St. Louis stretched its home ice unbeaten string to 11 games by coming from behind to beat Pittsburgh. Gary Sabourin's third period goal was the winner for the West Division leading Blues.

Sabourin scored less than 1½ minutes after Jim Roberts tied the score for St. Louis while killing a penalty. Noel Picard's got the Blues on the scoreboard in the second period after Val Fonteyne and Gene Ubriaco clicked for the Penguins in the opening stanza.

Danny Grant's goal with less than two minutes to play capped a Minnesota comeback that enabled the North Stars to salvage their deadlock with Los Angeles, which led 4-1. Danny O'Shea powered Minnesota with a pair of goals while Bill Flett scored twice for the Kings.

Hayes Selected To West Squad

NEW YORK (AP) — Elvin Hayes, the sensational San Diego rookie, has been picked over towering Wilt Chamberlain for the starting center position on the Western team for the annual National Basketball Association All-Star game.

The 19th annual East-West classic will be played at Baltimore's Civic Center Jan. 14.

Forward Elgin Baylor, Chamberlain's teammate on the Los Angeles Lakers, was the only unanimous choice of the sports writers and sportscasters for the franchise cities who picked eight players. Western coaches will select the other four players for the squad next week.

The other starters, named to date, include another Laker superstar, guard Jerry West; guard Len Wilkens of Seattle, and forward Don Kojis, another San Diego star. Also selected were forward Lou Hudson of Atlanta, guard Jerry Sloan of Chicago and Chamberlain.

The voting score of the selected players:

Forwards: Baylor, 14,000; Kojis 8,469, and Hudson 7,278.

Centers: Hayes 11,215 and Chamberlain 9,452.
Guards: West 13,604; Wilkens 11,855, and Sloan 5,385.

Placed Baby In Garbage Can

DETROIT (AP) — Police are looking for the mother of a one-day-old Negro baby found in a garbage can in Detroit on Christmas day. The infant boy, weighing 6 pounds, 14 ounces, was reported in good condition in Children's Hospital. He was discovered by a 10-year-old boy who had started to empty garbage into the can.

Ice Conditions Fair For Fishing

Ice conditions on lakes range from poor to fair. Ice on the deep lakes is thin and treacherous; that on shallow lakes such as Indian, Big Manistique and Brevoort is in fair shape (ranging from 3 to 5 inches with 5 to 10 inches of snow.) Beware of inlets, outlets and known springs.

Snow sleds are warned to beware of slush that is forming on most lakes due to recent heavy snow.

Special trout lakes are open until December 31st. Contact your Natural Resource Department office for lists of trout lakes open after January 1st. (as yet they are not available).

Northern Pike: Some nice pike were taken in Epoufette Bay just prior to the last freeze up. Ice is treacherous and frozen bays on the Great Lakes have been breaking up fast in the high winds at this time of the year.

Yellow Perch: Some nice catches of perch have been reported taken from Big Manistique Lake, Luce County; Brevoort and Millecoquin lakes, some perch taken from Government Bay, Les Cheneaux area, Mackinac County; and Indian Lake, Schoolcraft County. Small minnows are the preferred bait.

Walleye: Some nice catches are reported from Big Manistique Lake in the vicinity of the east shoal between Burnt Island and Helmer Bay, Luce-Mackinac County; Whitefish Lake in the Portage Bay area, Mackinac County and on Indian Lake, Schoolcraft County. Small to medium sized minnows are being used.

Cisco: A few fish were reported taken from Whitefish Lake in the Long Point area on Dec. 22.

Volpe To Stress Public Systems

WASHINGTON (AP) — John A. Volpe, President-elect Nixon's choice for transportation secretary, says more emphasis must be put on mass transportation systems to cope with the nation's urban traffic problems.

The Massachusetts governor said Thursday in his first news conference since appointed by Nixon that "highways alone won't do the job."

The emphasis on public transportation came as a bit of a surprise since Volpe has gained a reputation as a man who believes in highways. As federal highway administrator in the Eisenhower administration he directed the start of the gigantic interstate road system and he founded a construction company that has built thousands of miles of highways.

SDS Meetings

ANN ARBOR (AP) — More than 1,000 members of the Students for Democratic Society are expected to be on hand today when a week-long series of SDS meetings starts at the University of Michigan. Expected topics of discussion are the possibility of staging demonstrations at the inauguration of President-elect Richard M. Nixon and recruiting high school and more college students to join SDS.

Thomas Jefferson described the presidency thus: "The second office of the government is honorable and easy; the first is but a splendid misery."

Lake Michigan Down One Inch

DETROIT (AP) — The U. S. Lake survey indicates water levels on the Great Lakes range from two inches above to two inches below the levels one month ago. Lake Superior and Lake St. Clair both are measured at two inches below last month. Lake Michigan, Lake Huron and Lake Erie are down one inch and Lake Ontario is two inches higher than last month.

Fire Burns Mail

LENNON (AP) — At least five sacks of 1st-class mail were destroyed today when fire broke out in a U.S. mail truck enroute to Saginaw from Lansing.

The blaze, starting from an unknown cause, also damaged some of the mail in 35 other 1st-class and 100 2nd- and 3rd-class sacks, officials said.

The truck driver, John A. Frazer of Saginaw, said he noticed smoke while traveling on M78 and drove the truck to the Lennon Fire Department where the blaze was extinguished.

Northern Michigan Is Being Probed For Oil

LANSING (AP)—A number of major oil companies with millions to spend are probing a northern Michigan strip from Alpena to Traverse City, driving mile-deep holes in hopes of striking it rich.

Buoyed by a small oil strike a year ago in southwest Presque Isle County, wildcaters are laying plans to sink deep and expensive probing holes in likely looking spots across the northern strip.

And the state is cooperating in the venture by leasing the petroleum-seekers its mineral rights in the area—for a price.

Takes Year Or Two

The Department of Natural Resources took bids Aug. 5-12 in Lansing for leased rights to mineral wealth on large numbers of northern tracts. Shell Oil Co. and Pan American Petroleum Corp. of Corpus Christi, Tex., paced the August bidding, which netted a record $1.12 million.

Last Dec. 12 a smaller lease auction, again attracting Pan American and Shell, drew $95,673 for drilling rights on 106,719 acres in eight northern counties—including 26,390 acres in Montmorency County. The latest leases are subject to approval of the State Conservation Commission when it meets Jan. 9-10.

Robert G. Wood, Natural Resources Department supervisor for oil and mineral leases, says it will be a year or two before the oil firms know whether their investments will pan out.

"There should be a good indication within this coming calendar year," he adds.

"There aren't many holes yet," Wood says, "but next year we expect quite a number—anywhere from 10 to 20—and that's quite a few where it costs from $250,000 to $500,000 to dig one hole at that depth."

Soundings

Meanwhile, he says, the wildcaters have been running sophisticated surface tests—sending soundings into the underlying rock at various points in the area and carefully analyzing the results.

Underlying the northern area, says Wood, are many of the same geological formations which produce the now-dwindling oil fields further south in the Albion-Marshall area. But, he adds, they're deeper underground and more expensive to reach in the north.

Tests are planned in at least the counties of Montmorency, Otsego, Kalkaska, Grand Traverse and Benzie. Wood says the test holes range from 7,000 to 10,000 feet deep, with drilling costs rising steeply as the holes go deeper.

Offset Decline

New oil strikes in Michigan would offset a current decline in yearly production, notes Wood, adding the Albion-area fields, once highly profitable, are showing a dwindling output.

Earlier strikes around Midland and Mount Pleasant—which styles itself the oil capital of Michigan—are, although still producing after a surprising length of time, no longer the big producers they once were, Wood adds.

Michigan's oil industry thus depends in large measure on the success or failure of the new northern Michigan probes.

"If they get producing wells, it'll mean a boom," Wood says, "because we'll have more money spent on deep testing. But if they don't hit anything, then they'll pull out and we'll probably drop into quite a lull."

Shifting Dunes Bury Cottages

HART (AP) — Massive, 200-foot-high sand dunes pose as an impressive sight along the eastern shores of Lake Michigan, but for some cottage owners they stand for danger.

The dunes, a tourist attraction at Silver Lake State Park near Hart, are formed by strong winds blowing over Lake Michigan. Slowly and steadily the dunes have been creeping in an easterly direction.

In recent years, however, the dunes have moved as much as 28 feet in a 12-month span, swallowing several cottages in a destructive path and also filling in the western shore of Silver Lake.

Tom McShannock of Muskegon two years ago evacuated a summer cottage purchased a decade earlier. Now, only part of the roof and one wall are visible.

He had a new cottage constructed about 200 feet from the old structure, but he says the dunes could claim it if their destructive course isn't altered.

"We have rights to continue moving toward the lake," McShannock says, "as long as sand continues filling in. It gives us a good beach."

Resolutions For A Strong Heart

DETROIT (AP)—The Michigan Heart Association has a series of proposed New Year resolutions designed to keep people healthy during the coming year. Say to yourself:

"I will quit smoking cigarettes. I will quit eating solid fats at room temperature. I will exercise regularly and reasonably. I will get slim again and I will try to help my local hospital acquire a coronary care unit."

License Suspension Is Long After Conviction

LANSING (AP)—The driver's license of a Howell man—convicted 80 days ago for negligent homicide—was suspended Thursday by the Department of State.

Secretary of State James Hare announced the one-year suspension of driving privileges of Frank M. Bignell, 54.

At the same time, Hare criticized the "time lag" between the conviction of a person on a traffic offense and receipt by his department of official notification of the conviction.

"In Bignell's case, we received the notice of conviction from the Washtenaw Circuit Court today," Hare reported Thursday. "Action was taken immediately."

"His conviction on charges of negligent homicide (in connection with two deaths) dates back to Oct. 4, a time lapse of more than 80 days," Hare noted.

Bignell was convicted of negligent homicide in the deaths Aug. 3 of the Rev. Ellis Kincer of Ypsilanti and his wife Alice. They were struck by the car Bignell was driving as they walked along M 52 about three miles north of Chesley.

Bignell surrendered his license Monday, the secretary of state said.

"We have no way of knowing the disposition of any case until we get the notification in the form of an abstract from the court," Hare said.

"As expected," he said, "some courts are very prompt."

"At the other extreme, we had one case which took 405 days from the date of conviction to the time that our department received notification. In another case, it was 302 days time lag," he said.

Hare said he considered the time lag "a very serious problem."

"Although most of the drivers are not convicted of any felonies," he said, "they have had serious traffic offenses to cause suspension or revocation of their driving privilege."

Hare added that he has several times asked the State Supreme Court to take action against some lower courts which are often late in filing notices of abstract of convictions with his department.

Alma Debating High School Plan

ALMA — Should the Alma school system turn to a four-year high school when the new $6 million plant opens next year? Or should it stick with its present three-year plan?

Alma teachers seem to favor a switch. Superintendent of Schools Terry Meeder sought their reaction on this important matter to be decided within the next few weeks by the Alma Board of Education. The teacher's indicated that they'd like to see the change.

Meeder emphasizes that no official conclusions have yet been reached. He adds that any decision the board may make on a four-year high school for grades 9 through 12 and a "middle" school for grades 6 through 8 will not be by popular vote of any one group.

Urge Suspension Of 2 Policemen

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich., and a number of other Negro leaders met with Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh Thursday to urge the suspension of two Detroit policemen accused of beating a Negro youth on Christmas day.

Conyers, State Sen. Coleman Young, State Reps. James Del Rio and Jack Vaughn — all Democrats — also demanded a federal investigation into the charges against the police officers.

David Curry, 19, was arrested Christmas afternoon after he argued with a bus driver about change for the money he had put into a fare box. Detroit bus drivers no longer carry change, and patrons are expected to board with the exact fare.

Clubbed

Earlier Thursday, at a news conference held in Conyers' Detroit office, four witnesses contended Curry was clubbed to the ground by one white officer while another officer tried to restrain his partner.

The witnesses, who included a husband and wife driving home after visiting relatives for Christmas and an Army sergeant who recently returned from Vietnam, said that after Curry was handcuffed and sitting in a patrol car, they saw one officer reach back and hit the youth in the face.

The official police report of the incident says Patrolmen

Steven Piku and Keith Martin responded to a call from bus driver Myron Engle, who said he was having trouble with a drunk.

Used Profanities

Curry was using profanities and had taken a swing at the officers when they ordered him off the bus, the report says.

The youth suffered a one-inch laceration over the right eye and a two inch gash on the top of his head.

Mr. and Mrs. James Walton, who were driving home when they happened on the scene, said the officers appeared to release Curry. But as he began to walk away, they said, a policeman started after him and struck him on the back of the head with a pistol butt.

Not Racist Force

Curry was walking along the sidewalk with his hands in the air when "a policeman knocked the kid to the ground and was beating him," according to S. Sgt. Clarence Ringo.

"Another cop came up and got him off. They managed to handcuff him."

Cavanagh promised after meeting with the Negro leaders that any police brutality "will be dealt with forthrightly and harshly," but added:

"I refuse to indict the entire police department because of the activities of a couple of policemen. As far as I'm concerned, our department is not a racist department."

State Plan For Colleges Anchors Michigan Trends

Jean Worth, of Panax Newspapers, was a member of the Citizens Advisory Committee on Higher Education created by the State Board of Education to advise it on the State Plan For Higher Education in Michigan which was recently presented to the public after more than a year's development. It will be offered to the Legislature in January as a guideline for state policy in higher education.

HHH Calls For Direct Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, saving an archaic Electoral College system threatened this year to thwart the voters' will, has called for election of presidents by a direct vote.

Humphrey offered no specific plan for direct elections but urged the Democratic party to take the lead in getting approval of a constitutional amendment to overhaul the system.

He made the proposal in an article in the Democratic National Committee publication "The Democrat."

Humphrey lost the election to President-elect Nixon by a 301-191 Electoral College vote even though Nixon's popular vote edge was less than 500,000 votes.

"Because of our archaic Electoral College system," Humphrey wrote, "there was a serious danger in 1968 that the will of the people would be thwarted in the election of the President, either in the Electoral College or in the House of Representatives."

is a formal plan embodying the principles which the State Board of Education thinks basic to policy making for higher education.

The State Plan for Higher Education was written for the State Board of Education by Dr. Harold T. Smith of the Upjohn Institute and it has been reviewed by many professional and lay groups and rewritten to include their suggestions that the State Board thought pertinent.

A series of meetings throughout the state to explain the plan to the public revealed that the community colleges, baccalaureate colleges and universities affected by the plan all agree that there is need in Michigan for coordination of the state's efforts to support higher education, but that they have special concerns.

Fears Expressed
The universities and four year colleges fear State Board infringement upon their autonomous authority. The community colleges fear competition for students from four year schools for which the state bears a larger share of the cost than it does for community colleges.

Dr. Smith said that the plan should not be regarded as a final, hard fact, but a stage in the state's planning for higher education.

The document can be a Magna Carta for higher education in Michigan. It aims at informing all Michigan of the status of higher education (after high school), of its unmet needs, future outlook, the distribution of educational opportunity and especially the means of financing the educational establishment, since the plan will eventually succeed or fail in large part on the adequacy of funding.

Costs To Mount
Some of the plan is scary. It projects such huge costs for future education that it creates dismay about the means to finance it. But it also suggests that it is indispensable to the process of creating the skills that our future economy will need.

The plan — and especially the long discussions that gave it birth — suggest that if Michigan were starting its educational system from scratch it might do things differently. But the plan must deal with realities and with established institutions, new and old, and with more to come.

It was suggested at a meeting of the Citizens Advisory Committee that Michigan's system of higher education has evolved into one which has considerable help for the student who can establish himself in a four year college, but that it does less for the thousands who cannot progress that far, even if they have the mental capacity to benefit by the schooling.

Community Colleges
The community colleges are the newest level of higher education in Michigan. These colleges offer technical - vocational schooling and also the first two years of academic work for four year colleges. They are the fastest growing element in Michigan higher education, with 19 created since World War II.

Community colleges enroll 25 per cent of all college students in Michigan now and their count of students, including vocational - technical students, slightly exceeds the total enrollments in the first two years in the public four year colleges.

The community colleges are the agency chosen by the state plan for Michigan's vocational-technical schooling, even at the secondary (high school) level in some situations.

College For All
A basic goal of the state plan is to have everyone in Michigan in a community college district. Most glaring omission now is the City of Detroit with the greatest need for community colleges and without any.

The Michigan 1963 Constitution creating the State Board of Education gave it general planning and coordinating powers over all public education, including higher education. The governor has budgeting powers and the Legislature powers of appropriation in education and the universities and four year colleges are otherwise independent of the authority of the Legislature.

Community colleges, while they have boards of trustees like the four year schools, do not have their autonomous status and are legally more like high schools in their relationship to the state.

The state plan recognizes the role of the 56 private colleges and universities in Michigan's education, enrolling a sixth of all students in higher education "and adding important elements of diversity and strength to the college and universities opportunities available to the youth of the state."

Aids To Students
The state plan approves the Tuition Grant Program established in 1966 to aid students with limited financial resources attend private colleges in Michigan.

The State Competitive Scholarship Program, created in 1964, also aids students and there are several federal loan programs. The state plan suggests further the establishment of an Incentive Awards Program to identify high school students' from disadvantaged backgrounds for assistance in higher education.

The state plan says the State Board of Education will encourage community colleges, public and private colleges and universities and others involved with education (Michigan also has 400 proprietary schools) "to seek out and assist those who have the ability to do the required academic work, but who, because of inadequate academic preparation or other reasons, are unable to meet the admission standards of the institutions." (This keeps many Negroes out, even when they are offered the financial means.)

Open Door Policy
"The State Board reaffirmed that the policy should be to admit any high school graduate or other out-of-school person to a community college and counsel with him about the courses for which he is prepared and from which he may benefit.

"The State Board will request the four year institutions to admit academically qualified community college transfers.

"The State Board will foster coordination of state, institutional and federal funds available to students and recommend that sufficient state financial assistance be available to every individual who is academically qualified to undertake a higher education program of his choice.

"Each institution shall file with the State Board an updated five year plan of operations yearly.

Job Training
"The State Board will develop in cooperation with the institutions a statewide plan whereby off-campus education can be encouraged and coordinated.

"Certain community colleges will undertake programs to teach special skills.

"Where community colleges exist they shall serve as post-secondary vocational schools . . . in the interim the State Board will establish standards for secondary area vocational centers and community colleges.

"The State Board will expedite coordination of regional cooperative programs within the state and with neighboring states, research and public service programs, and cooperative programs with private organizations.

Size Of Schools
"Although it is not clear that there is a unique optimum size for educational institutions, it is believed that an educational institution cannot wisely be expanded indefinitely. Therefore, the State Board will study and recommend a state policy concerning institutional size and the distribution among the institutions." (Michigan State University, the state's largest, has more than 40,000 students.)
"It will continue to be the policy of the State Board that the existing branches of the state universities should be provided their autonomy in an expeditious manner.

"The State Board is responsible for making recommendations concerning the formation and scope of new public institutions.

Only Two Years
"The State Board will establish guidelines for locating community college sites . . . and appropriateness of residence halls. No community college should be transformed into a baccalaureate institution.

"The State Board will initiate a study of student tuition and fees.

"The State Board and community college boards and State Board for Community Colleges will recommend new ways of determining appropriations for community college operations consistent with their role as institutions of higher education. (In 1966-67 community colleges got 37.3 per cent of the income from state appropriations, 26.1 per cent from local property taxes and 29.2 per cent from tuition and fees. The state picks up a bigger part of the cost of operating the four year colleges.)

Paying For It
"State Board policy when students attend a community college as non-resident students shall be to charge the excess over the standard charge to resident students back to the student's local school district. (Ditto extra cost vocational schooling.)

"The State Board will study the need for the state to share in the cost of land acquisition for community colleges. (It provides sites for four year colleges.)
